Why a teacher thinks 'socialism'

The Fence Post received this week a startling unsigned letter regarding salary conditions in the local schools. The editor regrets it was not signed. It contains statements which, if true, would be of great concern to parents who have children in our schools. The charges made are so serious they cannot be published unless the writer is revealed. The writer says publication of his name would lead to his instant dismissal.

It is inconceivable that some of the charges made against the Arlington Heights school system is true in a democratic country. If they are true in Arlington, they are probably true in Palatine, Mount Prospect and other local communities.

A reporter is investigating the charges and has asked the school heads of this area to submit salary schedules which the editor hopes to be able to publish next week.

This week the editor of Paddock Publications received a phone call from an Arlington Heights mother who said, "If the salaries paid to Arlington Heights teachers are as low as stated in last week's Fence Post, I do not want to remain a resident. Underpaid teachers cannot give adequate instruction to children."

Paddock Publications is not taking up cudgels for socialism but we are publishing one paragraph that appears in the unsigned letter referred to above.

"You complain of socialism in the schools today, but what have you done to prevent it? What have you done locally? Can you reasonably expect anything else, when we are so pitifully underpaid? If you were one of us, and daily saw students driving to school in new cars while you could not afford to either drive daily, or even have a car, would you feel like preaching democracy? When you as a teacher command a salary in the munificent $3,000 class, would you feel that you could afford to buy your children new clothes, your wife a new dress, yourself a new suit or coat? To us teachers, democracy as practiced in the school here and elsewhere, is a bitter pill to have to take."

Boy Scout finance drive this Sunday

The Arlington Heights Boy Scout Drive for 1952 will be held Sunday afternoon with workers making a house-to-house canvass.

THIS DRIVE is necessary so that Arlington Heights may contribute its share toward the maintenance of the scout camps, Baden-Powell, Dan Beard and Napawan.

The council budget this year is $36,000, which indicates provision for an additional field executive, who is necessary due to the rapid increase in the number of scouts in the council.

Scouting has grown tremendously in Arlington Heights during the past three years. Today it has two cub packs, Nos. 232 and 255 and scout troop 32, sponsored by the Parent Teachers Association with Dan Vittum as institutional representative; troop 37, sponsored by the St. Peter's Evangelical Lutheran church, with Arthur Radke as institutional representative; troop 7, sponsored by the Arlington Hts. Lions club, with Floyd Burns as institutional representative, and Explorer Post 107 sponsored by the Methodist church, with Erwin Heinrich as institutional representative.

There are about 250 cubs, 125 scouts, 35 explorers and 100 adults included in this scouting program. The continued growth warrants at least one more of each organization and more adult leaders.

THE BOY SCOUTS of America is an organization in this community that is worthy of the support of everyone. It is definitely a part of the community and should be a part of the training of every boy over 8 years old. There is no better way to prepare boys of today for participating citizenship in a democracy than through the program of the Boy Scouts of America.

If there are any who wish to make a contribution and are not called on or will not be at home during the canvass, they may mail their checks to Alvin Popp, chairman, 638 N. Hickory, Arlington Heights, payable to the Boy Scouts of America.

JANUARY BUILDING TOTALS $290,540 IN ARLINGTON

Building permits issued in Arlington Heights during January totaled $290,540.

They included 19 single family dwellings, $285,200; three private garages, $3,550, and two alterations to homes, $1,790.

Fix routes of Tri-State Highway through Arlington

Proposed route of Tri-State through Arlington is released

There will be no more guess work as to the route that the Tri-State Highway (route 83) will take in passing through Arlisgton Heights.

When the State of Illinois relinquished the entire "say so" on route 83 to the Cook County Highway department, the latter body put engineers in the field and made surveys that definitely fix the route that will be followed when the highway is actually constructed.

Until this time owners of lands north of Arlington Heights have had no authentic information except that the original plans called for it to follow the section line which in Arlington is known as Arthur st.

THE ROUTE does not touch the corporate limits of Mount Prospect. From Central and Busse roads it swings to the east passing to the right of the Arlington Heights sewage treatment plant where it will pass under the Chicago and North Western railroad and the Northwest hwy.

After "nicking" a corner of Gibbons st. (east boundary of Stonegate) it swings through an undeveloped subdivision between Forrest and Gibbons ave., going straight north to Foundry. From that point it swings to the west, passing underneath Euclid ave. to reach the section line (Arthur st.) a short distance south of Wing st. extended.

The route passes Euclid ave. a considerable distance east of the Lady of Arlington Novitiate; a short distance from the barn of the former Henry Garms estate.

FROM INFORMATION received by Paddock Publications from the county highway department, the project, when started, will be completed in its entirety.

Tri-State highway plans call for two lanes between a grass plot. Right-of-way needed varies from 200 feet to 300 feet depending upon side drives.

The highway is two lane south of North ave. The state department is expected to "double track" the road from North to Central rd., where Cook county will take over.

The route through Arlington Heights was laid out through Stonegate nearly 25 years ago. It was at the request of its residents that the road was "pushed" to the east.

The engineer drawings secured by Paddock Publications are on display at the Arlington Heights municipal office, where they may be inspected.

Better streets, wider lots for Arlington

Two ordinances were passed at the Monday night Arlington Heights village board meeting, one dealing with lot widths and the other with minimum requirements for new streets.

IN THE future all new subdivisions will be required to have a minimum of 66 feet wide lots, measured at the building lot line.

Basic requirements for future streets call for a 9-inch crush stone and water bound macadam base with a 2-inch sub class I-11 topping, or 7-inch concrete pavement with integral curb.

Bids for a new village truck were opened and read and then referred to the street committee and chairman of the finance committee for their consideration.

VILLAGE attorney Hugo J. Thal was instructed to prepare an ordinance regulating smoke control within the village. This action was taken as a result of a letter written by a citizen complaining of the smoke from the chimney of Arlington Seating company.

Rent decontrol was again brought up at this meeting. Several renters have personally called Mayor Albert W. Goedke, complaining their landlords were increasing their rents unjustly. A letter from Richard W. Manke, who is in charge of renting apartments at 7-9-11 W. Campbell and 2-10 N. Dunton, gave just cause for the increase, and the board felt that the increase was not out of line.

Replies to 'racket' story in Chicago Sunday newspaper

The metropolitan press published a story headed "Survey Shows Towing Racket Widespread," that John Heintz of Arlington Fender and Body Shop labels as very misleading and unfounded.

"An association of Cook county towing firms is evidently trying to use the Tribune to 'blacklist' towing firm who have refused to join their organization," commented Mr. Heintz Monday.

"The story of kickbacks that some towing firms give to police officers may have sounded like red hot news, but it was a long way from the truth. It could better have been a story of high pressure methods being used to coerce independents into joining an organization whose sole purpose is to eliminate towing competition."

IN SUNDAY'S story, Arlington Heights Fender and Body Shop was charged with making exorbitant charges and kicking back part of fees to police officers.

In an effort to substantiate his claims that the charges in the story were unfounded, Mr. Heintz brought to Paddock Publications his towing records with the explanation that towing is based solely on the distance to be covered. Average charges are $12, $15 in the Arlington area, and $17 on long hauls

THE PROPRIETOR submitted with his records copies of invoices showing charges made by association members on cars which had later been picked up by Arlington Fender and Body Shop. The minimum charge appears to be $20.

"The newly formed association is trying its best to blacklist the Arlington firm with the state department of highways," Mr. Heintz added. "They have not succeeded. My equipment, insurance carried, and my charges have been checked and okayed by county and state police officials. I have never had a customer complain about towing charges I have made. Many of them, including the insurance companies who pay the bills, think my method of doing business is fair and just," Heintz said.

North Western turns down bid for railroad parks

The purchase of the seven railroad parks by the village of Arlington Heights and the park district is not going to be as easy as was expected.

Evidently the board of directors of the Chicago & North Western are not civic minded as far as Arlington Heights is concerned. They turned down the bid that had been made by the two boards. The offer was reported to have been greater than had been previously made by commercial interests.

The special committee which made the offer met with the railroad officials Wednesday afternoon.

Route 83 By-pass under Northwestern and Northwest Hwy.

Access to and from the Northwest Highway at the Route 83 by-pass is rather difficult and requires the construction of side drives.

Arlington Heights residents desiring to go south on 83 will enter through Foundry road as will also northbound NW traffic desiring to go south on 83. A circle drive will enable northbound 83 traffic to enter the north bound NW highway with little trouble.

NW highway will be raised several feet to be on a level with the railroad, which is alarming some property owners.

To date 220 persons from Arlington Heights and Palatine have pledged to give blood for the Korean war front when the bloodmobile is in Arlington Heights February 19-20.

The goal is 300 pints of blood, but the bloodmobile unit could process 500 pints during those two days if they had the pledges. Anyone who hasn't signed up as a donor should be asked the following questions.

Has a five-star war department telegram come to your home? To the home of a friend or relative? Could that tragic reminder of a death in Korea have been prevented by just one more pint of blood?

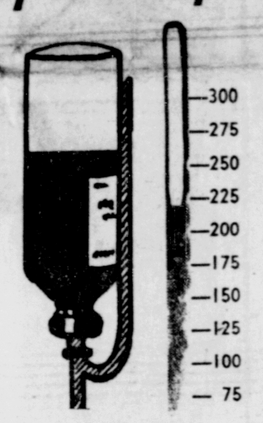

It is not those who have sons, relatives or friends in Korea who need a reminder of the urgent need for blood which exists. Most persons in this category would be willing to give a pint every week if that were possible. However, those who have no close personal ties to men in Korea perhaps need to know the tragedy of the frightful lack of life-giving blood.

THE PATRIOTISM of any citizen eligible to give blood who fails to do so is questionable, for he is failing in his responsibility to his nation, his neighbors and himself.

Gen. Ridgeway has said, "Every American who has given blood can and should feel he personally has contributed to the saving of the life of an American boy."

It is our sacred duty to save that life regardless of our personal opinions about the Korean war.

In World War I 8 to 11 out of every hundred men reaching the most forward hospitals subsequently died. In World War II the comparable mortality rate was 4.5 out of every hundred wounded men. This impressive decrease in mortality is attributed by high medical authorities of the armed forces largely to the use of plasma, despite all other modern medical marvels. As they so logically emphasize, the wounded soldier must be kept alive until these modern marvels of medicine and surgery can be applied and it is whole blood or plasma which keeps him alive.

IT REQUIRES 3 pints of whole blood to produce 1 pint of plasma. The average amount given to save one soldier's life is seven pints of plasma. Thus, it requires 21 pints of whole blood to save one life.

On or about February 11, reminder cards will be mailed to all who have pledged, telling them the exact time they are scheduled to appear at the field house. This is the only confirmation which will be received, thus it is suggested that it be posted in some conspicuous place.

Appointments are now being scheduled and all signed pledges should be returned to Mrs. Richard Bronwell as soon as possible in order that prospective donors may be more apt to be given the time they prefer.

Mrs. James Monroe, Palatine 913, is arranging for transportation from that town. Arlington Heights residents should contact Mrs. Richard Bronwell, 3257-J if transportation is desired. The bloodmobile will be stationed at the Arlington Heights field house.

Nurse warns of measles epidemic; tells what precautions to take

Measles have been on the rampage in Arlington Heights and Mrs. Thelma Carroll, community nurse, has given Paddock Publications a list of necessary precautions to take in order to get the epidemic under control.

The spread of the disease has been especially apparent during the last 10 days, with nearly 90 cases reported to date. Thirty of these were reported Monday. Those having the disease seem to be quite ill and are running high temperatures.

Here are the facts that parents should take special note of and follow:

Isolation is required from onset of catarrhal symptoms until five days after the appearance of rash and until all abnormal secretions of the mucous membranes has stopped.

Children who have not had the disease must be quarantined for 14 days from date of first exposure.

A doctor's certificate is required for readmission to school after having any communicable disease, other than the common cold.

Use a 'free chicken' for sales approach on a cemetery lot

"Your name has been selected for a chicken," a pleasant voice advises the housewife over the phone. "Will you and your husband be home this evening?" And what housewife today can refuse a free chicken? Of course they'll be home.

Mt. Prospect police report they have received a number of protests from families who have been thus approached. When the canned chicken arrives, it is in the hands of a salesman eager to interest them in cemetery lots.

$20,000 to townships; Wheeling nets $3,700; Elk Grove $1,700

Township roads will hereafter "get theirs" from the increase in the tax on gas purchases by users of motor vehicles. Township highway commissioners of Cook county have received notices to attend a meeting Friday in the office of George A. Quinlan, Cook county superintendent of highways, when the provisions of the new law will be explained to them.

State department of finance released Tuesday the amounts that the northwest towns of Cook county will receive. The total is $19,523.28 This represents the first distribution of such funds and is based on about $100 per mile for roads under the care of the local highway commissioner.

PALATINE is credited with nearly 50 miles and is being credited with $4,643.10. Only two other townships in the county have had greater road mileage and they are in the southern part of the county.

Wheeling will receive $3,699.80; Maine, $3,338.20; Northfield, $2,691.15; Barrington, $1,796.03; Elk Grove, $1,761.58; Hanover, $912.45; Schaumburg, $791.17.

The state department has paid to the Cook county treasurer about $57,750 for distribution to the townships when work approved by the county superintendent of highways has been completed.

It is not necessary that all work must be let by contract. Day labor may be used with county or township road equipment. The county has general supervision of the work with the highway commissioner in direct charge.

THE PRESENT allotment is the only one that will be received this year. January 31, 1953, a payment based on $50 a mile will be allocated to the townships. Thereafter the townships will receive monthly ten per cent of the gas tax collected.

While there is no restriction this year on the tax set-up of the townships, next year townships must levy a road and bridge tax of at least 10 cents and have a planned program of improvement approved by the department of public works and buildings.

The local road commissioner with the assistance of the county department will select the roads on which the money is to be used, but roads used by school busses and rural mail carriers have preference.

While no equipment can be purchased with the money, the township may charge the fund for use of township owned equipment providing the money so received is paid into the road and bridge fund.

In case of advertisement for contracts, the notices must be published in a local newspaper.

Collect $5,529 in Arlington polio drive

The March of Dimes drive in Arlington Heights netted $5,529.97, more than $3,000 over last year's mark. The Mothers' March on Polio, which was conducted by the Arlington Heights Woman's club, collected a total of $3,340.

OTHER DONATIONS were made through the following sources: Large coin cards and containers, $1,154.60; schools — Arlington Heights high, $300; Junior high, $94.10; North public, $145.47; South public, $192.02; St. Peter Lutheran, $130.85; St. James Catholic, $150.33; and Nursery school, $12.60.

The Woman's club feels that these wonderful results are due to the fine spirit and cooperation of the good neighbors in Arlington Heights. They extend sincere thanks. Heading the drive were Mrs. Charles Rehfeldt, town chairman; Mrs. Hilton Haase, president of the Woman's club and Mrs. Joe Grant, publicity chairman. The assisting committee consisted of the following persons: W. C. Hartmann, Mrs. Frank Golle, Mrs. Andrew Sim Mrs. Howard Schram and Virgil Horath.

Possible annexation alarms citizens; appear enmasse before village board

The regular Arlington Heights village board meeting Monday night turned into somewhat of a mass meeting when citizens representing various sections of the town appeared before the board to voice their objections to the proposed annexation of the Kirchhoff property, lying on the southeast border of the village.

Kirchhoff is seeking to have the property annexed to the village, and rezoned industrial, to permit the Roth Manufacturing company to erect a plant on the site. The company would manufacture steam generators and railroad car heating equipment. They would also make electronic controls for aircraft and heating systems for street cars and buses. The work consists of machining and assembling.

THE MAIN objection voiced by the various spokesmen and heartily applauded by the nearly 200 spectators was that they felt industry tends to ruin a town from a residential standpoint. Various property owners' groups signed a letter which asked the board to delay the annexation until it could be determined how much of a detriment, if any, it would be to property values. It also asked that no action be taken until the engineering firm of Stanton and Rockwell brings in a report regarding industry in the village. This firm has been employed by the village to make a survey of the town and lay out a long range plan, which the village could use as a guide in future expansion.

Many of the spokesmen said they had moved to Arlington Heights because it was a residential community, they had invested a lot of money in their homes, and they certainly did not want to see industry come in and lower their property values, and mar the land surrounding their homes.

George S. Hoban, 635 S. Burton, said, "I don't think it's a question at this time whether or not the property in question should be annexed, but whether Arlington Heights wants to be an industrial community or a residential community."

MAYNARD WHITELAW, 400 E. Park, cited to the board that he had moved here from Wichita, Kan., which had recently opened its doors to industry. In just a year and a half time the school enrollment in that city has increased from 24,000 to 33,000

Three community groups object to more industry zoning

Objections to further industrial zoning in Arlington Heights was filed with the village board Monday night by Northwest Betterment Group (Wm. Sauer), Scarsdale Estates Improvement Assn. (H. B. Hutton), and Scarsdale Improvement Assn. (Harvey Ormdorf).

The statement was read by Ormdorf as follows:

Most of the residents of Arlington Heights, particularly those who have moved here in the last five or ten years, came here because they decided that Arlington Heights was a good place to live and to raise their children. Arlington Heights has gained a very favorable reputation due to its rapid development of the average and above the average homes. Arlington Heights would not have gained this favorable reputation if large factories pupils, because industry attracted thousands of new families to the town. He felt that the children should be a primary factor in deciding whether or not industry should be allowed to come to Arlington Heights.

"Our schools are already too small," said Whitelaw, "and I'm afraid that an industrial boom would make the present problems twice as hard to solve."

A court reporter, whom no one admitted hiring, was present and took down all the statements made during the meeting.

After three hours of discussion, during which no one spoke up in favor of the annexation, it was decided to postpone action on the annexation until February 25, when a public meeting will be held to discuss both sides of the question. The mayor will appoint a committee to make arrangements for the meeting. All available information concerning the annexation will be gathered so that a true picture may be presented at the meeting.

"TIPS" PLEASE!

Police, press check rumors; hunt for Mrs. Wing continues

"Hey Mister! That missing woman you're looking for is here in my bar now," telephone caller tells Lt. Hugo Olsen who is heading the search for Mrs. Virginia Wing of Arlington Heights.

"Where is your bar?" the officer inquires.

"Kansas City," the voice replies.

And so Lt. Olsen calls Kansas City, Mo., police who check up on the caller's information.

"We are checking every call," Lt. Olsen says, "and we are getting hundreds of calls."

Mrs. Wing has been "seen" walking along every highway in the northwest area.

Rumors have had her body found at least three times.

An excited motorist found a coat and shoe in a ditch near Barrington. Investigation revealed that the clothing didn't belong to Mrs. Wing.

A former Prospect Heights neighbor claims she saw the missing woman driving an automobile last Monday on Elmhurst rd.

A Barrington appliance store owner says he gave road directions to Mrs. Wing.

An Algonquin restaurant owner called police and reported the woman was standing in front of his eatery.

Why did he call?

His suspicion was aroused because the "woman was looking funny at my menu tacked on a front window."

And as many "wild" stories are being told in Arlington Heights.

Among local residents, a "might-be" becomes a "possibility" with the second telling; a "fact" on the third repeat and by the time the fourth person hears it, the story is the "truth."

Paddock publications receives a new rumor every day. All are checked at once with county highway police.

Heights firemen answer two calls

Arlington Heights firemen were called to the home of Francis P. Hickey of 726 S. Mitchell ave. early Saturday morning to extinguish a blaze in a mattress. Damage was confined to the mattress and springs.

Monday morning firemen were called to extinguish a blaze caused by an overheated refrigerator motor in the southwest barracks at the Arlington airport. No damage was reported.

Heights post office needs full time mail carrier

Virginia F. Dodge, postmaster of the Arlington Heights post office, says that the local post office urgently needs a full time mail carrier. Starting pay is $1.61½ per hour, which includes paid vacation and sick leave benefits.

Anyone interested should contact Mrs. Dodge as the post office.

Stanton and Rockwell to give progress report Friday; invite public

The engineering firm of Stanton and Rockwell, employed by the village of Arlington Heights to make a survey for future village planning, will give another progress report Friday at 8 p.m., at the village hall.

The planning commission invites the general public to sit in at this meeting. The report will cover traffic control and parking problems in the shopping area.

CIRCLING THE TOWN

BY PHYLLIS KNIGHT

Several community organizations have joined together to help put over a big project in Arlington Heights. The project is, of course, the campaign for blood donors for the Red Cross.

Under the leadership of a Woman's club committee headed by Mrs. Richard Bronwell, the town is being canvassed for volunteers. The new Junior Chamber of Commerce has joined in with their full strength and enthusiasm, and in addition announcements have been made and pledge cards available at PTA meetings, churches and other club groups.

The Red Cross bloodmobile will be in the village Tuesday and Wednesday, Feb. 19 and 20. Tuesday they'll set up at the field house from 2 p.m. to 8 p.m. so men who commute to Chicago may still give blood when they get home. Wednesday they'll cater more to the housewife brigade with 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. hours.

Requirements for giving blood are simple: ages 21 to 60, in reasonably good health, weight of 110 pounds or more, no pregnancy within the past year, or surgery within six months. The procedure takes about an hour from start to finish—including time for refreshments following the donation—and is painless. Those between the ages of 18 and 21 may give blood, too, if they have their parents' consent.

Though more than 200 pledge cards have been signed, the village has promised to provide at least 300 during the two-day stand of the bloodmobile. Blood is the most needed commodity in the Korean conflict, and a pint of it is something no donor will miss.

In tune with the times

In keeping with the elections coming up this year, the Village Theatre has chosen for its spring show, "State of the Union," a Pulitzer prize comedy about the political aspirations of an industrialist. The play will be given April 18 and 19 under the sponsorship of the Merle Guild Post 208 of the American Legion.

Tryouts—open to any one interested—are being held this coming Sunday and Monday. Sunday afternoon they will take place from 2:30 to 5 p.m. at the Legion hall, just east of the field house, and Monday night they'll begin at 8 p.m. at 726 S. Highland.

There are five roles—three men, two women—who run substantially through the whole play, and several others, while shorter in length, are equally important. Two shorter parts are the Southern lady, who makes herself right at home with her husband's Republican friends, and the hearty, glad-handing tycoon.

Those who would like to work backstage are also invited to come Sunday and sign up for their choice of crews.

On the way

With the move of the telephone company business offices to their new building on N. Vail this week, we seem at last to be on the way toward dial telephones. It is significant that the building is far enough along to accommodate the office force. With much of the equipment still to go in—admittedly the biggest job—dial service and the end of the waiting list appear to be visible on the horizon.

Scout appreciation dinner at Arlington honors leaders

by ARNOLD HATCH

Over 130 cubbers, den dads, mothers, scoutmasters, scouters and their wives of Blackhawk district, N. W. S. council, were given an annual appreciation dinner in their honor January 30 at Faith Lutheran church, Arlington Heights.

N. W. S. council, together with sponsoring institutions of Arlington Heights, Prospect Heights and Mt. Prospect, take this means of expressing their appreciation for the ceaseless efforts of its leaders in carrying on cubbing and scouting so effectively in spite of the ever present shortage of leaders, and most important of all the many scout widows who are so often deprived of their husband's companionship evening after evening because of a cub or scout meeting.

Fred Welsh, retiring Blackhawk district chairman, introduced these personages and their wives, giving all a sincere pat on the back for their part in scouting: Stan Huntington, scout executive; J. Minerva, assistant scout executive; George Sheppard, council president; Les McAuliffe, commissioner; Arnold Hatch, publicity; A. Blaschke, Art Raven, A. Moudrey, Jim Wax, and these neighborhood commissioners, Ken Marble, B. Dahlquist, C. Schutz and F. Wright; also troop and cub pack members, T-7, C. Crane and D. Bradford; T-23, Harold Meyer; T-32, A. Hackbarth; T-34, R. Griffin and F. Wright; T-36, A. Pritchard and B. Colmar; T-37, E. Tagge; T-51, M. Jackson; T-53, G. Martin; Pack 223, Rev. Stevens; P-232, J. Webster; P-251, H. Feige; Explorer Post 107, J. Brandt, and P-136, W. Colmar.

Mark Creviston, newly elected district chairman, gave a brief summary of district officers' responsibilities, pointing out that cubbing and scouting would operate on a district basis rather than the present unit basis, and that the camporee and pow wow must of necessity be carried out on the district plan rather than the council basis as in the past, because of lack of space and facilities at Camp Dan Beard.

He introduced these district officers and their wives, complimenting each for his part in the scouting program:

Allen Armstrong, Ken Marble, Art Raven, Jack Melig, Otto Rezek, Harold Johnson, Ken Hull, Arnold Hatch, Ed Emery and James Wax.

Rev. A. Behrens gave the invocation and all partook of a delicious roast beef dinner with fruit cocktail, cabbage salad, topped with lemon chiffon cream pie and coffee served home style by Mrs. G. F. Heidorn and her 18 aids.

Les McAuliffe said it was a real privilege to introduce these Explorers of Post 107 who presented and retired the colors in an impressive ceremony: Mark Creviston, color sergeant, Bob Pearson, Rick Hull, Floyd Burns and Dave Brandt.

Fred Welsh showed beautifully colored slides of Camp Napawan, region 7 canoe landing and Philmont scout camp. Stan Hunting assisted as narrator. Two slides deserve comment, the first, Paul Bunyan wind gage, a wooden fence post dangling a 5 foot piece of logging chain consisting of 4 inch links bent up and welded out of 1 inch rod together with a sign which read, "When wind causes chain to wrap and unwrap itself violently around the post, that is normal breeze; when the chain stands straight out from the post and the links start snapping off, better start to look for cover."

The second slide, a close up study of Stan Huntington with a pair of Paul Bunyan ears created much laughter from the audience, but Stan's cute comment was, "Isn't it awful?"

Injured in accident

A 27-year-old Joliet man was injured Monday in an auto accident at Higgins and Rohlwing rds.

The injured man, Richard L. Allen, 27, of Joliet, was treated by a Palatine physician.

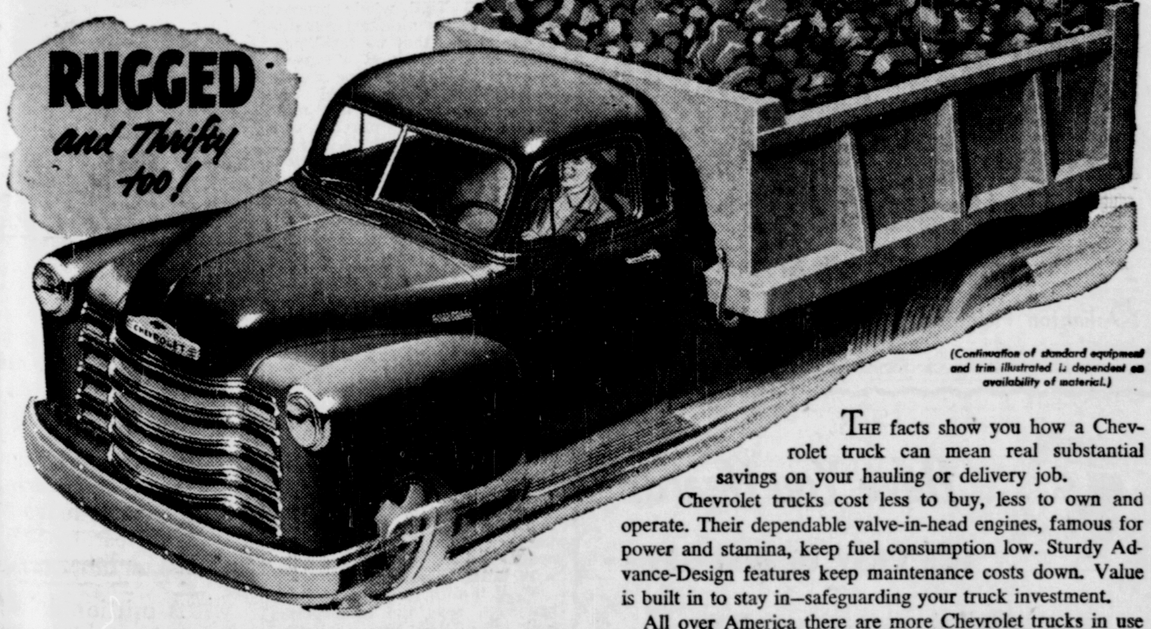

He told county sheriff's police his auto collided with a car driven by Anthony Stacy, 50, of Chicago after he failed to notice the Stacy car approaching the intersection because of a fogged windshield.

THE EIGHTH GRADE YEARBOOK

by DONALD KING

A group of 25 eighth grade students are now in the process of producing the 1952 yearbook for the Arlington Heights Junior high school. This group of people were selected by Donald King and Mrs. Kay Campbell for their ability to work, organize and write.

The yearbook staff elected the editor, Judy Grose, and business manager, Kay Whitelaw. The editor is in complete charge of producing the yearbook. She assigns the people various duties, such as the writing of the will, the prophecy and the history. She also sets up the time schedule for articles. When the articles are finished she appoints a committee to proof read all material, then re-write where necessary, and finally make arrangements for our Junior high school secretary to cut the stencil. It is also the duty of the editor to supervise the assembling, binding and distribution of the yearbook.

THE BUSINESS manager, Kay Whitelaw, is in charge of the sale of the yearbook and she must also assume the task of advertising the book. Assemblies, posters, talks, rumors about the identity of Miss Yearbook and the sale of pictures make up the advertising program. Around the first of March subscriptions are sold for 75 cents. The business manager and her staff take care of money and receipts to students. They are also in charge of paying incidental bills and must keep an accurate cost record of yearbook expenses.

As a direct result of the planning of the combined staff, the Community Camera Shop of Arlington Heights was asked to take pictures for our yearbook. In addition to pictures of the eighth grade sections, others were selected on the basis of service organizations. At the popular request of the combined staff, the pictures of Supt. R. E. Clabaugh and Prin. Russell Savage, and the faculty were also included, making up a total of 16 pictures for the present yearbook.

DURING THE whole process of planning a major fact remains in our minds: that we must produce the yearbook at a reasonable cost and everything we do is tempered by this fact. The school system helped this matter considerably by purchasing a small binding machine, which is also suitable for other school uses. Now, by binding our own book, we will still be able to present the 1952 yearbook at a reasonable cost.

The yearbook is planned and directed by a staff under the direction of Donald King and Mrs. Kay Campbell. We have found that the planning and direction of the staff combines educational value with pleasure in seeing a finished product, besides its intrinsic value as a memento of school days.

ROAD MILEAGE

It has been estimated that there are 62,200,000 drivers in the U. S. Although Illinois ranks fourth behind New York, California, and Texas in driver and vehicle registration the state has more street and road mileage than any of the three.

Vern Smith Electric Co. to build business block in Mount Prospect

The rapid growth of Mt. Prospect business district will take another leap this spring when Vern Smith Electric Company will construct a modern two story business block, containing two stores and office space on the first floor and four modern apartments on the second floor, with a full basement.

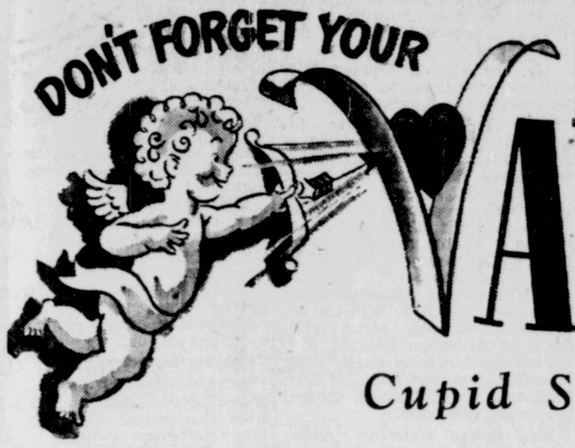

V. B. Smith, president of the company, says the construction will be of the fire-proof type with concrete floors supported on pre-cast concrete joists, with solid masonry walls. This is in keeping with the government's program of conservation of structural steel.

In addition to the stores and apartments this modern building will be the new home of the Vern Smith Electric Company, one of the leading electrical contracting firms northwest of Chicago.

"With the additional space we will be able to carry larger stocks and give better service to the many fine builders we have had the pleasure of serving," says V. B. Smith.

One ride and You'll say:

"That's the Smartest Million Dollars BUICK Ever Spent"

WHEN we tell you that every 1952 Buick rides like a million dollars, we're not just slinging slang—we're talking real money—right-on-the-barrelhead cash.

A million dollars and more were poured into research and testing—design and tools—engineering, production and components—to team up the combination of ride features you'll find on a Buick—and on no other car in the world.

A million dollars and more was the price paid to work out control of end-sway and side-roll on curves—to double-check vertical "throw" with shock absorbers and big soft-acting coil springs for all four wheels—to V-brace the torque-tube keel and X-brace the frame—to cushion body and engine—and to silk out the whole operation with Dynaflow Drive.*

You may not care how the job was done, or what it cost. But we'll lay you this:

You're going to say "thanks a million" to Buick engineers once you get this spirited smoothie under your hands and haunches.

Old familiar roads take on a new smoothness. Gone are the weave and wander, the jitter and jounce that you've felt in lesser cars. You ride with road-hugging assurance and level ease.

All of which only begins to tell you what really great cars these 1952 Buicks turned out to be.

Never before have style and stamina—comfort and character—power, performance and price been brought together with such satisfying skill.

The obvious thing for you to do is come in and look them over. How about taking half an hour off to do that—today?

Ossy Renardy, violinist, in next concert

The third in a series of four community concerts will be held at Arlington Heights high school Sunday, Feb. 17, at 8 p.m.

One of the sensational artists of the country, Ossy Renardy, will be the guest of the Arlington Heights Community Concert association.

Diversification of music and talent has been the keynote of the association during the past three years and the concert February 17 will be different than has been presented before.

One of the most brilliant violinists of his generation, Ossy Renardy is equally famous in Europe and America. In concert and on records his dazzling virtuosity and superb musicianship have won the admiration of press and public. With the recent acquisition of the famous Guarnieri del Gesu violin made in 1743, Renardy's beautiful tone is amplified and enriched. The violin, said to have belonged to Paganini, is valued at over $50,000.

Born in Vienna, Ossy Renardy's musical gifts were discovered when he was only five. He was already an established artist in Europe when he first came to the United States in 1937, a country which was soon to become his own.

The war interrupted his career for he served four years in the United States army.

One of Renardy's greatest admirers is conductor Charles Munch, who has publicly hailed him as a "sensation." The violinist has appeared under him with the Chicago Symphony and with the Boston Symphony of which Munch is now musical director.

As usual, there are no single admissions, only members of the Arlington Heights Community Concert association are admitted

Floyd Burns earns Eagle scout award

Floyd Burns of Arlington Heights was awarded his Eagle scout rank Monday night, January 28, in a ceremony held in the Methodist church gymnasium with Explorer post 107 and scout troop 7 looking on. Floyd is pictured above with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Burns.

Floyd came up through all ranks of cubbing, receiving the Webelo award, then advancing into scout troop 7, receiving star and life ratings, then going on to Explorer Post 107. He obtained all three ranks there, including the silver award.

Floyd has earned 36 merit badges, and holds the Indian Trailway, Lincoln Trail, Blackhawk Trail and World Jamboree at Valley Forge medals. He was granted the Pre de Patri award, the highest citation the Lutheran church bestows on a boy scout, about a year ago. Just last month Floyd received his boy scout life guard rank.

Serving as honor guard for Burns were Eagle scouts Hull, Cruickshank, Creviston and Pierson. Two mothers of Eagle scouts, Mrs. Cruickshank and Mrs. Pierson, escorted Mrs. Burns, while adult Eagle scouts Hogate and Hanor escorted Floyd's father in the ceremony.

Crew leader Dave Brant of Explorer Post 101 presented Floyd with an Eagle scout ring, while classmates of Burns presented him with a silver identification bracelet in honor of his Eagle scout award.

Winners of speech tournament to compete in district contest

Arlington Heights high school speech students held an intra-school contest January 29 to determine which students would represent the school in the various speaking categories of the forthcoming Illinois high school association sponsored district speech contest to be held March 8.

Much enthusiasm was shown by students and competition ran high throughout the evening.

SIXTY-THREE students were on the printed program to take part and match their effectiveness against each other.

First place winners will advance to the district contest; but in case of illness, runners-up will compete.

Winners and runners-up were as follows:

Humorous reading, Sue Henning and Richard Carlson.

Serious reading, Judy Peterson and Gail Peterson.

Radio speaking, Richard Carlson and Blyth Morrow.

Oratorical declamation, Blyth Morrow and Charles Knapp.

Verse reading, tie between Leigh Peterson and Charles Knapp.

Original oratory, Bill Bowman and Walter Dahm.

Extempore speaking, Dan Walton and Don Bedingfield.

The contest in original monologue will be held at a later date, along with the playoff in verse speaking.

ALL OF THE above students will spend much time with their coach, Clayton E. Mott, director of forensics at the high school, in preparation for the district contest in March. If any of the Arlington students emerge either first, second, or third in this contest, they will advance to the sectional contest to be held later at Elgin. Victors at Elgin will advance to state finals at Champaign April 18 and 19.

The contest play "The Old Lady Shows Her Medals" will be directed by Miss Sylvia Moller, director of drama at the high school. The setting of the play is England during the first World War. The cast is composed of Joan Bernthal, Bill Bowan, Violet Jeffery, Joan Mette, Sue Henning and Bob Pearson.

Arlington's varsity debate squad will also compete in the sectional contest at Elgin. This is the school's first year of debate competition which is being coached by Mr. Mott.

THE PRESENT varsity affirmative is comprised of Dan Walton and Kermit Ford; the negative is composed of Charles Knapp and Tom Cleaver.

The contest play cast, debate squad, and individual speech students are all participating in the high school speakers bureau, and in so doing, are affording programs for clubs and organizations as well as gaining experience for themselves in public speaking.

The following teachers acted as judges for the contest held last week: Edith Lindsey, Delores Hudson, Fredrick C. Schmoyer, Alma Leonhard, Dorothy Wolff, Ann Cox, Jane Mahin, Donald Messenger, R. C. Conrad, Fleet Combs, Mrs. Coletta Nelson, Donald Carmichael and Robert Meredith.

He that never changes his opinions, never corrects his mistakes, and will never be wiser on the morrow than he is today.
—Tryon Edwards

One of the mistakes in the conduct of human life is, to suppose that other men's opinions are to make us happy.

It is common to men to err; but it is only a fool that perseveres in his error: a wise man alters his opinion, a fool never.
—Sir Edwin Arnold and fables.
—Mary Baker Eddy

I do not regret having braved public opinion when I knew I was wrong and was sure it would be merciless.

No errors of opinion can possibly be dangerous in a country where opinion is left free to grapple with them.

Arlington Heights resident buys Bounty Fair gift shop at Palatine

Mrs. Shirley Shanklin, who during past years has always seemed to have time for civic work in her home town, Arlington Heights, is going to be busy in another way. She has purchased the Bounty Fair, a gift shop on the highway at Palatine.

She is very enthused over her business venture and has some ideas gathered from her experience as a gift customer that she expects to put to good use.

While gifts of all kinds for all purposes will be standard stock she will specialize in gifts of the moderate price range of one to five dollars. Another specialty will be children's birthday gifts in the one dollar bracket.

"All mothers," says Shirley, "will welcome the news about the children's gift section. While the shop is now open it will be a few days before the new stock is on display but do not let that fact keep you from calling and getting acquainted," added Mrs. Shanklin.

Asian traveler to address WSCS Tuesday

Speaking before the Women's Society of the Arlington Heights Methodist church at the 1 p.m. dessert luncheon program February 12 will be Mrs. Edmund D. Soper, teacher, traveler, and now a resident of Evanston.

"Asian People As I See Them" will be the subject of Mrs. Soper's remarks based on her recent travels in India, Singapore, Manila, Japan, French-Indo China and Korea. In each of these countries she spent at least 10 weeks with the exception of Central India where she and her husband lived for two years teaching in schools and colleges.

While in Seoul, Korea, Mrs. Soper visited Ewha college where she had taught several years previously. Because of the extended time spent in this wide area, Mrs. Soper's impressions of the Asian people should be much more authentic than those of a casual traveler.

Mrs. Charles Kule will present the devotional meditation of the day.

A Valentine theme will be carried out in the dessert luncheon to be served by Mrs. I. Paul Doane's circle of which Mrs. Donald L. Yeast is hospitality chairman.

A nursery attendant has been engaged to care for children that afternoon.

Presbyterians to observe Youth Sunday

Youth Sunday will be observed at the First Presbyterian church of Arlington Heights February 10. The activities of the day will begin with a special service of worship conducted entirely by the young people in the sanctuary at 11 a. m.

The three members of Senior Tuxis and the scout representative who will take part in the service are Philip Knoeppel, Tuxis president; Pat Watkins, fellowship chairman; Bunny Baumann and Joh Busse. Richard Zabriskie, student assistant from McCormick Seminary, will preach the sermon, "Making Our Lives Count."

The entire youth program of the church will be represented by the attendance of the Brownie, Girl Scout, and Boy Scout troops which meet at the church during the week. Representatives from the scout troops will serve as flag bearers and color guards for the Christian flag, American flag, and troop flag which will lead in the processional.

The Boys' choir will open the service with "Holy, Holy, Holy" by Dykes. The Youth choir will sing the anthem, "Saviour, Teach Me Day by Day," by Freylinghausen as the meditation in music, and the Junior choir will sing "We've a Story to Tell to the Nations" by Nichol for the offertory. The Junior and Senior Tuxis boys who will usher are: Paul Brown, Dan Jordan, Jim Summers, Don Niemeyer, Dick Riley, and Jim Thomson.

Beginning at 7 p. m. there will be a special program for the Junior and Senior Tuxis and their parents. It will begin with games and singing and will be highlighted by chalk talks given by Richard Snyder, a graduate of McCormick Seminary who is now associated with Howell Neighborhood House in Chicago. A born cartoonist, he has done work for television programs and has appeared on TV in person.

"Doc" Snyder is well known among Presbyterian young people for his entertaining and inspiring chalk talks, and because of his great versatility, he is well received by people of all ages. Mr. and Mrs. Snyder will be available for informal discussion during the refreshments which will follow the chalk talks.

Scouts hail 42nd birthday

The nation's 2,900,000 cub scouts, boy scouts, explorers and their adult leaders are observing boy scout week, February 6 to 12, marking the 42nd birthday of their organization by giving the nation a unique birthday present.

The boy scouts of America will launch a new three-year program known as "Forward . . . On Liberty's Team," a program of action designed to help keep America strong and free.

This year's celebration will honor the organizations and institutions whose sponsorship make possible the existence and growth of the nation's 80,298 packs, troops and explorer units.

The units will then review all the ways in which the sponsoring institution has helped a unit as a whole as well as the individuals in it. The scout units will announce the goals of their three-year program to help achieve the goals, which is to make the boy, the Scout movement and the nation—physically strong, mentally awake and morally straight.

The Boy Scouts of America was incorporated at Washington, D.C. February 8, 1910. Traditionally, on that day, members recommit themselves to the scout oath or promise at 8:15 p.m., in the four time zones.

Boy Scout Sunday will be observed February 10 in thousands of churches with Scouts and leaders attending services in uniform.

THE MAILMAN'S CORNER

BY LELAND ELLIS TRUXELL

People are always writing and talking about hope and how everyone should have some of it, but not very often do they say why one should believe that hope pays off. Everyone has a different idea about what hope is; but this is why I believe hope is a wonderful thing, and everyone should keep at it and never give up hoping no matter what comes.

To begin with, life is a very uncertain thing, and luck is a fickle lady, but in general, in most things that a person tackles, he has at least a fifty fifty chance of success. If he uses his head, he increases the chances in his favor by another 10 to 50 per cent; and in addition luck may favor him, even if his thinking and approach is wrong, and bring things into his favor. I am not talking about horse racing and gambling, where the percentage is always high against the gambler because of many unknown and unknowable factors used to rule luck out of the picture.

But if I were a young man with talent for, say, painting; if I study hard and am careful to develop my talent along salable lines; if I develop my personality so that I am a very personable young man, one in whom people are likely to have confidence; if I cultivate the acquaintance and friendship of people in power who can help me; if I am not afraid of working long, hard hours, and am deeply interested in perfecting and developing my work along the line that people in power can help me in; if I do all of these things, then no matter how the cards are stacked against me otherwise, I can hope to succeed. And no matter how many failures and hardships may cross my path, I can hope for success in spite of them, for it is a true fact that luck changes. A man or woman may have 20 or 30 years of hard work and sacrifice behind him without success when lo! overnight the whole picture changes and he is successful in a matter of days or weeks. A run of bad luck is almost always followed by a change for the better, just as a streak of good luck is likely to be followed by a period of bad luck. It is the man who hopes and works hard and takes advantage of all his breaks who succeeds.

Hope is a very necessary psychological part of man's nature. Without it there would often be no incentive to keep on, and even the most cynical and complaining person keeps on hoping, even though he may not admit it. But hoping alone is not enough, and luck alone is not enough. It is the combination of hoping and working hard, even sometime against seemingly insurmountable odds, and a little bit of luck thrown in that turns the table in favor of the hoper when he uses his head to take advantage of opportunities as he should.

Therefore hope is valuable, and a worth while thing which will bring reward to the person who plans his life so as to take advantage of all the breaks which will come his way from time to time through life.

Flowers provide the language of love

Anybody who believes a rose is a rose—and nothing more—is falling for soft petals. A red rose—and that is something you should know, with St. Valentine's day approaching—is a declaration of love. In so many words, it means, "I Love You."

Naturally, next Thursday (St. Valentine's day) should accentuate all this hearts-and-flowers stuff.

IN THE MODERN version of the language of flowers there are very much the thoughts of Henry Ward Beecher when he wrote: "Flowers have an expression of countenance as much as men. Some seem to smile; some have a sad expression; some are pensive and diffident; others again are plain, honest and upright."

So, the modern botanists have brought their language up to date in ways which give a practical hint when you go to your florist. Swains, young or old, can say just about what they mean to say in the floral Valentines they send. The warm greeting of roses comes right to the point. If the roses are white, "You're heavenly," or "You're innocent." Pink roses promise, "I'll never forget you;" yellow roses, "Try to care," or "I'm jealous." Sweetheart roses, the miniature rosebuds clustered on a single stem, vow that "I'll remember always."

RED CARNATIONS mince no words: "I'm carrying the torch for you." Fragrant white carnations breathe, "You're sweet and lovely." Pink carnations promise, again, "I'll never forget you." Newest in the carnation and camellia spectrum are the striped or variegated colors which at St. Valentine's day have a very definite way of saying, "Sorry I can't be with you," or "Wish I could be with you." Yellow carnations plead eloquently, "You have disappointed me."

"To a beautiful lady," is exclusively the voice of the orchid, whether expressed by the large lavender kind that belongs to the mature woman or the dainty orchid spray for a young girl. Sophisticated camellias, the red variety, are warm reminders that "You're a flame in my heart." If the camellias are white, "You're adorable," or "Adorable you." Dainty pink camellias plead, "I'm longing for you." The white gardenia, in quiet grace, breathes "You're lovely." Violets tied in an old-fashioned nosegay promise, as you would suspect, to be "always true."

THE COLORFUL gladiolus pleads: "Give me a break—I'm really sincere."

The golden daffodil carries its ancient message: "The sun is always shining when I'm with you," and the modern version, "You're the only one." The blue iris declares, "Your friendship means so much to me." Stately snapdragons bear greetings to tell. "A gracious lady." Tulips unfold their voluble petals to say, "I love you—believe me." And, daisies, of course—"I'll never tell."

FARE FOR ST. VALENTINE'S DAY

You'll serve heart shaped cookies, of course, this February fourteenth. They're traditional. Our cookies are rich, spicy, paper thin and delicately ornamented with pink sugar and white frosting. This is an old world recipe adapted and streamlined in the research kitchens of Blue Bonnet Margarine.

Nobody knows exactly how many Saints Valentine there were. Rumor says five. We'll settle for one. Here is our special and delicious cooky recipe for greeting St. Valentine's Day

ST. VALENTINE'S COOKIES

1 cup Blue Bonnet Margarine
1 cup sugar
1 cup molasses
1 egg
1 tablespoon vinegar
2 teaspoons baking soda
1 teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
⅛ teaspoon powdered cloves
½ teaspoon salt
4 cups sifted enriched flour
¼ cup sugar
3-4 drops red food coloring

Cream margarine. Add sugar gradually and blend well. Stir in molasses. Beat in egg. Add vinegar and blend. Sift baking soda and spices with flour and add to molasses mixture. Mix until smooth. Wrap dough in waxed paper and chill overnight in refrigerator. Remove from refrigerator and roll out at once on lightly floured board to a thickness of ⅛ inch. Cut into heart shapes with cooky cutter. Sprinkle with ¼ cup granulated sugar which has been colored red with food coloring. Place 2 inches apart on ungreased cooky sheets. Bake in hot oven (400° F.) approximately 5 minutes. Cool. Decorate around edges with white frosting using paper cornucopia or pastry tube. Makes about 8 dozen cookies. (ANS Features)

Some trees just pine away far from home areas

Geographically speaking, trees are great homebodies and often resent transplanting to distant climes. You need to be a whiz of a horticulturist to nurture them too far away from their natural habitats. Despite this, over-enthusiastic tree lovers are making relocation plans for such flora far from geographical stamping grounds.

Right now, visiting Northerners, attracted by Southern species, will buy trees and shrubs that simply won't thrive above the Mason Dixon line. And Southerners, spending next summer up North, will be attracted by specimens that fail and fade when they can't enjoy customary dormant seasons.

There's one way to handle the problem of selecting practical plantings, advises C. J. Toner, field representative of the Davey Tree Expert Co. Consult your nurseryman or local agricultural station when you contemplate ownership of exotic trees or shrubs. You'll get first hand reports of their adaptability.

For growing success up North, some Southern varieties must be provided with greenhouse facilities during the winter months. Trees that enjoy a wide growing range are rarities although the common red maple, the hackberry and some others are notable because they are found from Florida to Quebec.

However, the majority of plants have definite geographic limits, controlled by such factors as rainfall, humidity, altitude, latitude and soil. For instance, rhododendrons must have acid soil and humid climate. On the other hand, hemlocks, quite tolerant of soil and humidity, are vulnerable to wind and exposure.

In the Shadow of + + + The Steeple

by William O. McGill

Dave Proffitt seems to have grown a lot in the years since went to Maryville college with his sons. As I recall it, he was n the religious member of his family. His brothers were elders the New Providence church (he has since been made one); h wife was a responsible member of the Ladies' Society; the chi dren were in Sunday school. But I don't remember Mr. Proffit as a churchman during those years.

This is not said in a spirit of criticism. We all liked him. My roommate was — his guest at times — his father and Dave had been classmates. But Dave could not then seem to understand why John's father had to waste his talent as a missionary. John's Maryville relatives had a small cabin near the Proffitt lodge in the mountains. We were at the cabin frequently. When I say that Dave Proffitt has grown, I speak as one who was close enough to have formed an estimate of the man, although not to have known him personally. But this, after all, is the way in which most men of stature make an impression on the youth of a community.

I AM SURE that a group known as the National Council of Presbyterian Men has had something to do with that growth. In the past few years, we have all begun to wake up to the fact that a great many men have been carrying their religion in their wive's names. And we have realized that we have not made the missionary movement dynamic and meaningful to the men of the church. This has happened in most denominations, earlier in some than in others.

Well, last Saturday, Dave Proffitt spoke about the world and the Christian cause, at the close of his term as president of the council of Presbyterian men. He has recently finished an estimate of the human need in the countries of Asia. He has a delightful natural humor which made his address pleasant to hear. But that isn't what makes an address live in your mind and heart. He went to find out what the human need is that he might tell it to the men of the church; and he assumed that meant he must go as close to the front as they would let him (he got north of the 38th parallel), that he must go into the prison camps, into the refugee dumps (for that is where refugees are forced to congregate).

HE CAME back to say that in one prison camp, there were seven prayer groups meeting in the wintry out of doors before dawn every day, each group having a thousand persons in it. And he was proud and humbled to be there, knowing the great effort which it cost these people, and how little it costs a man in this country to be in church once a week. He was proud of the service which the servants of the church have rendered all through the Orient, and a little humble that we had not sent nearly as many such servants of the cross as we might have.

Speaking to two thousand Presbyterian men from at least 24 states (paying their own expenses for three days at the Palmer House), he said that men have only started to understand the greatness of the cause we serve or the power that we, individually and together, can bring to service of Christ.

Ten or fifteen years ago, Dave Proffitt could have rested comfortably on his achievements as a businessman and citizen of a small city in the Tennessee mountains and appeared to be doing so. Today, he is a citizen of the world and a statesman of the Protestant churches, and he is not resting on anything; he is looking for new opportunities to be of service to his Master.

Journal of a Bird WatcheR

by F. J. FREEMAN

by F. J. FREEMAN

February 4th (1951) — These past five days have been whooper-doopers! The morning temperatures have been -14, -23, -0, -1, -20 degrees. This afternoon we went into the bird census area in Elk Grove Preserve. It was one of those perfect winter days with bright sunshine, no wind, and fluffy snow. By comparison the temperature seemed warm. Chewed several of the fat, red buds of the linden tree and recalled that no matter how cold it gets, these buds enclosing next season's leaves and flowers, never freeze. Other small insect bodies hidden under bark, in the ground, or in cocoons likewise survive subzero temperatures without harm. This is one of the mysteries of nature.

Feb. 7th—This evening at a quarter to six in the clear blue of the western sky, over the apricot colored horizon, hung the silver crescent of a new moon with Venus, like a large diamond, caught on its lower tip! Never before have I seen such a beautious sight. A little way above was another bright planet and quite close to that, like a secondary star, was a third far distant one.

Feb. 16th—This record-breaking winter is continuing with glaze added to our other difficulties. As a result we have had at our feeders both the male and female of the downy and hairy woodpeckers, one male and two female cardinals, four juncoes and the usual host of sparrows and starlings. Cornelia filled a grapefruit rind with a mixture of suet and sunflower seeds, and this we nailed up on the apple tree over the bird bath. It has the exclusive and undivided attention of a pair of chickadees. The other day I saw a pretty sight on my way to work. As I crossed the creek at the south end of Elk Grove, there was a flock of birds feeding. The sun was bright, the snow white, and the tall ragweed stalks brown. Feeding on them were seven female cardinals and three bright red males, two chickadees, and one rosy tinted purple finch!

Feb. 19th—Driving through Elk Grove Preserve this day I spied a woodpecker near the top of a tree. It appeared at first to be a dingy looking red-headed woodpecker—an uncommon winter resident. On closer inspection the edge of the wing proved to be specked with black and white like a downy's. Although the head was red like a redhead, the sides of the face were gray so that the red formed a hood. The bill was long, and the bird was larger than a downy. It finally flew, and its notes were soft and low—a sort of "chuck" sound. I did not get to see its cross-barred back but concluded that it was a female red-bellied woodpecker, a rare bird for these parts, being common farther south.

The other day I nailed a piece of suet on a tree trunk in the forest preserve where I could observe it from the road. The next morning as I approached, a crow flew nastily away, and I found it nearly torn off. That noon I watched five chickadees busily wresting off beakfuls of suet and flying off to nearby trees where the food was carefully tucked under loose bark and into crevices. Lucky is the hungry down, nuthatch or creeper that happens on these stores. If the nuthatch should find them, he will probably hide them somewhere else and forget them for the chickadee to find. While if a woodpecker finds them he will just gobble them down, and that will be that.

Emotional Cycles

Definite cycles have been found in the emotional life of human beings. Professor Rex B. Hersey of the University of Pennsylvania has discovered that individual males tend to have their own emotional ups and downs in rhythmic cycles which may vary in periods, depending on the individual, from 2½ to 9½ weeks.

Working girls' sorority plans Kentucky trip

Mrs. Ruth Goebbert, 29 S. Mitchell, Arlington Heights, Alpha Eta chapter, was appointed chairman for the Kentucky glamour week-end tour of Sigma Alpha Sigma, national working girls' sorority.

In addition to its social and charitable activities, the working girls' sorority plans luxurious travel adventures on pin-money budgets.

Mrs. Goebbert reports that the girls will leave in four private B&O streamlined cars for the Kentucky Derby May 2. They will have their breakfast enroute and arrive in Louisville May 3, where charter busses will take the group to Churchill Downs. After the day at the races, the busses will take the group back to the train where the private cars will be boarded for Cincinnati.

The girls will stop at the Sinton hotel in Cincinnati over night and Sunday morning will leave by charter bus for the famous blue grass country around Lexington, Ky.

The group will leave Lexington by charter busses Sunday afternoon, spend the evening in Cincinnati and return to their private train at 10 p.m. They will be back in time to report for work Monday morning.

The trip will cost $55 and that includes everything, fare, derby ticket, hotel, tips, meals and sightseeing.

It is not necessary to be a member of the sorority to join in the glamour travels. Nonmembers are invited as the travel activity is a service for all working girls. The Kentucky Derby reservations, however, are going fast, so local girls interested in joining will have to get in touch with the local chairman before February 15 when the reservtions close.

Muriel Davis, a Chicago secretary, is national president of Sigma Alpha Sigma whose national headquarters are at 5 N. Wabash, Chicago.

Ethel Wilson Currier to review 'April Snow'

Ethel Wilson Currier of Arlington Heights will present a book review at the village hall in Mt. Prospect at 1 p. m. February 19 for the benefit of St. John's Episcopal church, Mt. Prospect.

"April-Snow" by Lillian Budd and thumbnail sketches of recent readable books will be the subjects of Mrs. Currier's friendly, informal review.

Mrs. Currier's formalized training, while very comprehensive, cannot compare with her actual experiences in making her person eminently worth hearing. So expertly are the sidelights of these experiences injected into her reviews and lectures that the listener comes away with a feeling of having been talked "with" instead of "to."

MRS. CURRIER has a B. S. degree from Purdue university, received training with Jane Green, dramatic coach and radio actress, formerly of Chicago and now with Metro-Goldwn-Mayer of Hollywood, and studied voice operatic and stage technique with Olive Maine, eminent teacher of New York City and formerly with the Chicago Civic Opera Company.

She has contributed to two Chicago Tribune columns, "A Line o' Type or Two" and "In the Wake of the News." Having done some newspaper writing, she also composes poetry in her spare time.

Mrs. Currier has appeared before the Conference of Club Presidents and Program Chairman and the Illinois Federation of Woman's clubs. As an outstanding reviewer she has achieved listing in R. H. Bowker and son's "The Literary Marketplace," which is a complete Who's Who of American book publishing and the marketing of literary material.

Mrs. Currier is a resident of Arlington Heights and a member of St. John's Evening Guild.

MRS. JOHN F. Havard of Arlington Heights is general chairman in charge of arrangements. She will be assisted by Mrs. Forrest E. Blose, Mrs. Curtiss A. Dahl, Mrs. William F. Frost, Mrs. Robert E. ## Favorites for Flavor

By LOIS SEILER

A savory shrimp casserole served piping hot from a chafing dish made a big hit at a buffet supper recently.

The hostess at this supper was Mrs. Francis Sweet of 914 N. Highland, Arlington Heights, and the shrimp dish was her own concoction.

The piquant taste of this creamy casserole is obtained from the many delicious ingredients it contains.

The recipe calls for cream of mushroom soup, chopped ripe olives, pimientos, chopped hard boiled eggs and, of course, the piece de resistance, shrimp.

Curry powder also lends its distinct and unusual flavor to this dish, and frozen or canned peas can be added if desired.

Mrs. Sweet serves this casserole from a chafing dish, which gives decor to a buffet table. The shrimp are added just before serving.

The casserole is spooned over Chinese noodles or toast squares. As an accompaniment to this dish, Mrs. Sweet suggests serving a tossed salad, French bread with garlic butter and a cheese assortment.

Shrimp casserole

1 pound canned or fresh cooked shrimp
1 can cream of mushroom soup
½ can milk or cream
1 small can chopped ripe olives
1 small jar pimientos
2 hard boiled eggs, chopped
Frozen or canned peas (optional)
½ teaspoon curry powder
Salt and pepper to taste
Dash of paprika

Heat all of the ingredients, except the shrimp, together until warm. Just before serving add the shrimp. Serve on Chinese noodles or toast squares.

Mrs. Hoover will tell of her interesting experience and life in Japan. Her husband spent some time in Japan helping to set up a civil service commission similar to that in the United States. Mrs. Hoover joined her husband there for a year in 1949-50, where they lived in a U. S. government housing settlement about 15 miles outside of Tokyo. Mr. and Mrs. Hoover, with their three children, now live in Mt. Prospect.

All club members are invited to attend this meeting and may call Mrs. Hildebrand at 756-J for reservations.

Co-hostesses for the afternoon will be Mrs. F. E. Wood and Mrs. R. R. Bronwell.

Art study group

The meeting of the art study group should prove of interest to many club members, since the subject is photography, and members are invited to bring their husbands. This is an evening meeting, which will be held February 12 at 8 p. m. at the home of Mrs. J. Edward Middleton, 635 S. Newbury pl.

The speaker will be J. Edward Middleton, who has won many prizes for his photography. He is a member of the Philadelphia and Boston Camera clubs and an officer of the Winnetka Camera club. Mr. Middleton will use some of his prize-winning photographs as a basis for his discussion and will show his audience how to take good pictures from a design viewpoint after which he will answer questions about photographic technique and composition.

Presenting the Younger Generation

Regular fellow

First in today's representation of the little folks is Gary Wagner, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Wagner of 315 Schiller, Palatine.

Gary is 15 months old, has blond hair, blue eyes and is just a "regular little boy," said his mother. His train and teddy bear are favorite toys and his two brothers are his favorite playmates.

Gary's brothers are Donald, 5, a kindergartner at Lincoln school and Bobby, 3. Mr. and Mrs. Richard Wagner and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Weidler, all of Park Ridge, are the grandparents.

Big doll

Here's a sweet little package. She is Wendy Jaacks, 8 month old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Jaacks of 11 S. Elm, Mt. Prospect.

Wendy has light brown hair, blue eyes and can now stand by herself. This little lady, just a big doll herself, is a lover of dolls. "She is especially fond of her older sister's dolls, the ones with real hair," explained Mrs. Jaacks.

Big sis is Sharon, a 3½ year old. Mr. and Mrs. Leo Jaacks of Arlington Heights and Mrs. M. Ehard of Mt. Prospect are the grandparents.

Painting and drawing

Painting and drawing and playing with her Bonnie Braids doll are Cherie's best liked home activities. Kirsten Lange of Arlington, Va., and Mrs. Evelyn Bouffard of Chicago are the grandparents.

All smiles

This perky smile, blond hair, and blue eyes belong to Bobby Bouffard, 1½ year old son of Mr. and Mrs. George Bouffard of 926 N. Beverly lane, Arlington Heights.

It wasn't difficult for the photographer to catch Bobby smiling as he is ordinarily all smiles. He's a mischief maker, too and seems to like to pester sister, Cherie, pictured next.

Bonnie braids

Cherie, with her pretty blonde braids and blue eyes, would like to tell us that is 5 years old and in the kindergarten at North school, and likes it very much. "School is a favorite; she won't talk about anything else," declared her mother.

Romance of Jewelry

The story of gold has always held many fascinated, and the search for this precious metal has for centuries been a major incentive behind land discoveries and exploration.

In hydraulic gold mining, powerful streams of water are played on the surface of hills or mountains to wash gravel and other material through sluices to recover the gold.

For ages, men have slaved and died for gold; bitter wars have been fought over it; and it has lured people to suffer incredible hardships to win its incomparable beauty and worth.

Pure gold is too soft for most purposes, so fine gold jewelry is an alloy combining gold with other metals, frequently platinum.

Gold-filled jewelry contains more pure gold than gold-plated jewelry, and consequently is of more value and has better wearing qualities.

The fashion "gold rush" is to chains, used as bracelets, necklaces, fobs, pendants and watch bands. Interesting link structure and detailing give these gold ornaments added distinction and appeal.

Costume jewelry

Creative metal jewelry — gold or silver link necklaces and bracelets—and simple earrings are the perfect accompaniment for business and casual clothes.

Amusing novelty jewelry, colorful "conversation pieces," are ideal for sportswear. Nothing too bright and nothing too elegant is an axiom to keep in mind when selecting jewelry for sportswear.

Classic styles in pins, necklaces, clips, earrings and bracelets are just right with town clothes for shopping, business and daytime activities.

Glamour jewelry for dress-up hours includes brilliants, richly colored and set stones, luxurious earrings, glittering or exquisite pearls.

Wheeling bowling news

by ED WELFLIN

Last week the Amvet five, of the Tuesday night men's league, took all three games from the Lion contingent while the last place Chamber of Commerce five tripped up the Firemen twice. As a result of these happenings of last week the Firemen five is back in second place again. It looks as if the Firemen just want to stay in the first place position for one week and then fall back into second and wait for three weeks and another chance at the leading Amvet five. Their next chance will be February 12. Oh Boy!!

The Riviera and Northbrook Auxiliary fives, of the ladies' Wednesday night league, both came out on top of their matches last week with two victories apiece. Second place Riviera beat league leading McIntyres while last place Northbrook Auxiliary won from the Geest five. Riviera's victories moved them to within five games of league leading McIntyres while last place Northbrook Auxiliary moved to within 23 games of third place Geest five. Only 23?

Welflin's Grocery five, of the men's Wednesday night league, is really having quite a time of it this year. Their average goes up, up, up, but their standing goes down, down, down. At the present time they possess the highest team average of any league but they are now resting in last place in their league. Last week Welflins succumbed to league leading Ward Bros. twice. In the other contest of the night Nottie Pine Inn moved into third place and only one game out of second, by winning two from McIntyres.

Foote's Tavern and Red's Garage fives, of the Thursday night men's league, just keep on going. Footes are setting the pace and Red's Garage is following along in good stride close behind. Both teams won two games last week. Reds downed Wheelum Battery while Footes victim was last place Borcharts.

The Zeman Beer team, of the Friday major league, has really been giving the Behm five a lot of trouble of late. Last week by dealing Behms two losses, the Zeman Beer five dropped Behms three games back of the first place Miller's High Life five While Behms were having their troubles the Miller's High Life five, paced Ed Hornbergers 569 series, swept their series with McIntyres with the least amount of trouble.

Valentine Tips on Hearts and Flowers

ST. VALENTINE'S DAY is the year's biggest challenge to a man to use imagination and ingenuity to show his affection. And to help him, it's a challenge to every florist to bring a new flair to his year-round role as interpreter in the language of romance. Alyn Wayne, the flower stylist of the Florists' Telegraph Delivery Association, provides a sophisticated touch in a Valentine corsage for Broadway actress Ludie Claire. Gorgeous red roses, historically the floral declaration of love, are combined with delicate hyacinths arranged in the shape of two hearts.

FOR A FLORAL VALENTINE that's guaranteed to go to her head, the FTD stylist suggests a purple heart of forget-me-nots framed against the pink of a heart-shaped anthurium as the above at right. Or, for the girl who craves the unusual, the FTD expert prescribes a striking wristlet (at lower right) of maroon anthurium, red roses and a heart of white hyacinths—and have the florist mount it on a puff of lace. ## Horatio Gardens

Last Saturday night Charles Fiorino celebrated his 50th birthday. His wife, Zell, treated him and his family and closest friends to a wonderful dinner party at "Esthers" in Half Day.

The local Men's Improvement Association met Monday evening at the home of Verner Uutala. Under discussion was the spring thaw—vs (as usual)—our roads. Much concern was also shown over the proposed plan of the towns of Deerfield and Highland Park using Vernon township as a garbage dumping ground. We will help in fighting it.

Mrs. Agnes Heidenreich entertained the H. G. ladies at their bi-monthly get-together. We are all happy that Mrs. H. is well again.

Mrs. Marion Brehm, Mrs. Alice Kryski and Mrs. Myra Schuetz drove over to Deerfield last week, Wednesday and lunched with Mrs. Hazel Powell, a former neighbor.

Girl Scout News

The Northbrook Girl Scout association offers winter-weary housewives a chance to share in a worth-while community service and have some fun at the same time. There is no charge for the course in leadership training given at the Village church Thursday mornings from 9:30 to 11:30. While the first session was held today, Thursday, there is still time to enroll in this adult education class, which is open to all Northbrook women interested in participating in either leadership or organization work for the Girl Scouts. Mrs. Frank Adams, who is in charge of the training, will be glad to hear from anyone interested in taking the course.

Mrs. Gilbert Marshall, volunteer trainer, has had intensive training for this type of work. Mrs. Marshall has just been appointed to the steering committee for the program building workshop which is being conducted by the North Shore association for training.

The mothers of Girl Scout troop 6 and Brownie Scout troop 10 held meetings last week to formulate plans for the International Friendship day dinner and program the girls will give on February 21.

The following girls were invested at an informal ceremony given by the Girl Scouts of troop 5 at St. Norbert's church: Susan Daley, Linda Pries, Patsy Landa, Judy Martin, Tonette Galli and Palma Covone. Troop 5 is representing Switzerland and at last week's meeting the girls were making bodices, caps and aprons of colored crepe paper.

Brownie Scouts of troop 7 (third-grade girls) entertained Mlle. Chantal de Molliens at their last week's meeting. The girls heard all about Girl Scouting in France, the country they will represent at their celebration. Mlle. de Molliens, who is from Paris and has just moved to Northbrook, was dressed in the French Girl Scout uniform. She also assisted in designing the crepe paper costumes the girls will wear at their dinner party.

Mrs. Henry Diederich, Mrs. Charles Boldt and Mrs. Robert Weidenmiller, leaders, will take the third grade girls to St. Anne's home for the distribution of Valentines. The Valentines were made by the girls and will be used on breakfast trays.

Bonnie Diederich was elected president of this troop and Susan Slezak, secretary.

Troop 2, taking advantage of last Thursday's mild weather, went on a hike and ended up inspecting the building of a new modern home on Hillside rd. Returning to their meeting place in the basement of the Village church, the girls had a lesson in tying knots. "Just to show the boys they aren't the only ones who can tie knots," said one of the girls. Troop 2 has decided to represent three countries at the dinner, New Zealand, India and Australia.

Mrs. Harold Snepp, Public Relations chairman, visited five troops last week. "This is one of the most satisfying projects ever undertaken by the girls as a group," said Mrs. Snepp. "We are learning about girls in other countries, widening our field of interest and in doing so, benefitting others as well as ourselves."

All persons attending the dinner, which is being held in St. Norbert's church February 21, will be asked to donate a penny for each year of their age, the proceeds to go into the national fund for establishing and maintaining Girl Scout troops abroad.

Edward James Koller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Koller, was baptized Sunday by Rev. Charles Haefner at St. Norbert's church. He was born December 29 at Highland Park hospital and sponsored by Miss Frances Dugo and Frank Dugo of Chicago. Among those attending were Rev. Edwin Hunt Badger of St. Giles church and Mr. and Mrs. Ted Swartzbaugh and D. Oberie.

Mrs. John Martell returned home from Grant hospital after a major operation. She received a plant from the Northborok Royal Neighbors. Mrs. Herbert Maihack is in Highland Park hospital for a major operation.

Mrs. Julia Fuhr is enjoying a vacation in Florida.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Borre celebrated their silver wedding anniversary at an open house Sunday from 1 to 5 p. m.

Mrs. Edward Lind was hostess to her bridge club last Wednesday evening.

Mrs. Laverne Smith and her mother, Mrs. William Christman, enjoyed a birthday celebration last Wednesday in Lombard in honor of her niece, Mrs. George Armstrong of Chicago, at the home of Mrs. Evans Robertson.

There will be a spaghetti dinner at St. Giles church next Thursday from 6:30 to 8 p. m. Tickets may be purchased at the door or from the chairman, Mrs. Thomas Ryan.

Annexation --

would have located here five or ten years ago and if this would have happened at that time it would not now be the nice town that it is. Let's not change it now.

If a large factory is permitted to locate here it will be difficult to stop further industrial development in the large acreage surrounding this proposed plant. This further industrial development may prove to be much more objectionable than the factory now proposed. A small foundry, or a smelly metal treating plant could very easily locate around this new factory. If this happens Arlington Heights can't possibly remain the nice town that it is today.

Taxes: Contrary to the opinion indicated by some people, this plant will not reduce our taxes. Mr. Rockwell of the engineering firm of Stanton & Rockwell substantiates this point when he stated that there is nothing to substantiate an increase or a decrease in taxes due to this proposed factory. It is a matter of common knowledge that the taxes paid on a below the average home are not sufficient to pay for the schooling cost of one child. Therefore, it is reasonable to expect that school taxes will increase especially since the proposed factory will contribute nothing to our elementary school cost as they are not in this school district.

We recommend that you await a detailed analysis of expected taxes from this plant over a period of the next 5 or 10 years. We should check very carefully the atnicipated tax assessment of this proposed plant having in mind the expected depreciation over a period of years. If council feels that they have authoritative figures on the anticipated taxes and tax savings, we ask that they publicize these figures prior to voting on this matter so that all the property owners will know what to expect.

Real estate values:

Up to this time Arlington Heights has enjoyed a very favorable real estate market. If prospective home owners must pass a large factory and a possible new industrial development on the outskirts of Arlington Heights, they will think twice before buying here. An industrial development of this kind certainly will reduce the size of our residential real estate market and therefore will reduce the values of existing residential property. People will stop thinking of Arlington Heights as a good place in which to live.

Let's compare Park Ridge with Des Plaines. Park Ridge has no industry and apparently has no intention of permitting industry to locate there. Des Plaines on the other hand has catered to big industry and the results speak for themselves.

Local business:

We believe that the local business men and shops will benefit much more from a continued favorable residential development in Arlington Heights rather than a factory development. We fail to see where a large factory and possible additional small factories will improve local business.

Water and sewage:

This plant will use a comparatively large amount of water and, therefore, will have a comparatively large amount of sewage to be disposed of. During the past few years we have experienced a lack of water in Arlington Heights during the summer months. Unless new wells are provided (and paid for) our water condition will get steadily worse.

Housing restrictions:

In any town that caters to industrial development there generally results a clamoring for drastic reductions in housing restrictions to permit construction of low cost housing in the $8,000 class. At present the tendency of our local government is to increase housing restrictions by increasing the minimum square feet of livable space and the minimum width of a lot at the building line. The thought of permitting industrial development is not consistent with our present intention of increasing housing restrictions.

School board:

We suggest that the Village Council request a report with recommendations from the School Board in regard to this matter.

Mt. Prospect:

It is now generally understood that the people and the government of Mt. Prospect are definitely not in favor of this industrial development at this location and they want no part of it.

Conclusions:

We ask that the Board of Trustees delay voting on this annexation petition until such time as the engineering firm of Stanton & Rockwell are in position to make a definite and final report. Why should we act hastily in this matter without the advice of the experts whom we are paying? We believe that the Board of Trustees should arrange for a public hearing on this matter so that a fair consensus of opinion can be obtained.

We believe that the Board of Trustees and the Mayor should take full responsibility in this matter and not vote hastily for this annexation and then drop this into the lap of the Zoning Board of Appeals for their recommendation only. If you pass this annexation petition you are indicating your approval of this industrial development. Why not let the people of Arlington Heights indicate their preference in this matter before you make your decision.

The Board of Trustees have never requested a report of recommendation on this matter from the Plan Commission despite the fact that they have attended meetings of the Plan Commission in order to obtain some information about it. The job of your Plan Commission is to study and make arrangements for future favorable development of Arlington Heights. Why have they not been consulted in this matter?

Mr. Rockwell has already stated that we now have more than a normal amount of industrially zoned land to take care of the requirements of a community of our size.

The Board of Trustees voted officially against this annexation when it was first submitted. This negative vote received wide publication and we find that most of the Home Owners in this community are of the opinion at this time that this matter has been voted down. Your action in having the first reading of this revised annexation petition made at an adjourned meeting and also this second reading tonight has received very little publicity, if any, and most of the Home Owners are not aware that this matter is being revived and that most of the Trustees are now in favor of it.

We feel that the Home Owners are the majority of stockholders in this community and for this reason they have every right to be heard.

We believe that proper publicity at this time will prove that the majority of the Home Owners are not in favor of this annexation as now proposed.

And Now We "Weax" Our Cars

Wax is sometimes considered man's first plastic material. In large measure, beeswax was responsible for the transition from the Stone Age to the Metal Age. With its aid, man was able to cast objects in metal. The Egyptians used wax extensively in their preparation of mummies. Later civilizations made free use of wax for religious figures, writing tablets, containers, etc. Our term "wax" is derived from the Anglo-Saxon "weax" — the name given the natural material in the honeycomb of the bee. The word later became "waehs" and finally "wax".

Recipe tells how to light piano

Now that youngsters are back in school, piano practice sessions must often take place in the late afternoon or early evening hours.

Reading music can be tiring even for young eyes if the piano is not well lighted.

General Electric's new light conditioning recipe for reading music not only shows what lighting equipment does the job most efficiently but also exactly where to place it for "tested" results.

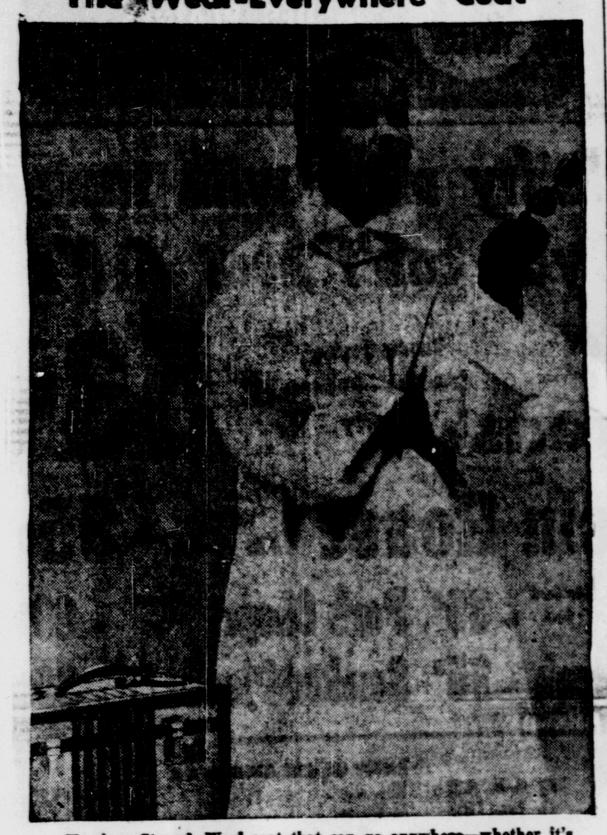

The photograph above illustrates one of several ways to get good lighting at the piano.

A swing-arm floor lamp with a ten-inch diffusing bowl and shade of at least 16 inches (bottom diameter) is recommended. The extension arm length should be at least 15 inches and the bottom of the shade should be 47 inches above the floor.

To locate the lamp correctly where it will supply maximum light on the music rack, place it so the center of the shade is 22 inches to the right or left of the keyboard center and 12 inches in front of the lower edge of the music rack.

Use a 100-200-300-watt inside frosted bulb and turn it on the highest wattage. The shade must also be transmitting to allow light through it.

"The Wear-Everywhere" Coat

Here's a Stroock Wool coat that can go anywhere—whether it's shopping, the theatre or on a trip. The coat, featured in Cosmopolitan magazine, has a round collar that fits snug with a button-on tab at the neck. It comes in white, red, beige, and pastel shades and has push-up sleeves and a taffeta lining. Made by House of Swansdown. Price, under $100. Sun glasses, Ray-Ban by Bausch & Lomb.

Assessor Clark completes gigantic assessment job

County Assessor John S. Clark has completed the 1951 quadrennial real estate assessment for Chicago and Cook county, a vast and complicated job undertaken every four years in which more than 1,200,000 real estate parcels are re-evaluated for assessment purposes.

The county's total real estate valuation for 1951 has gone up 7 per cent, or 411 million dollars over the last quadrennial assessment made in 1947, Clark said.

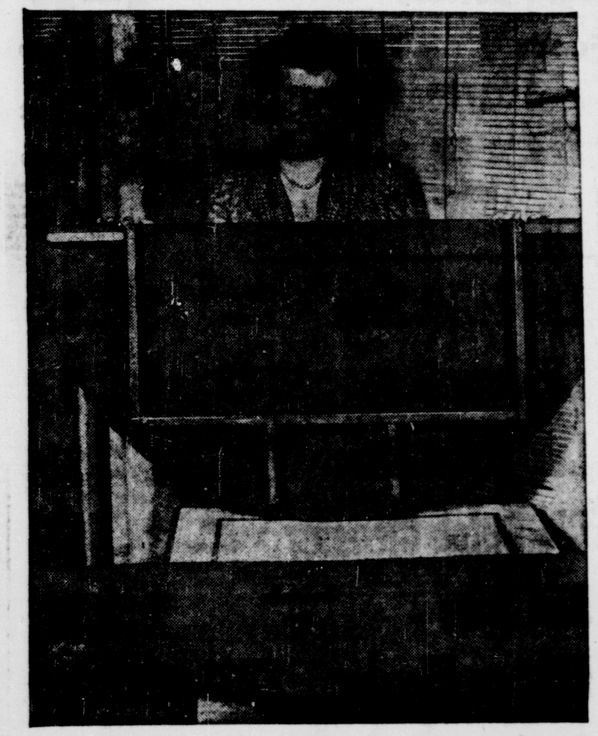

"County-wide, the increase in the 1951 assessment is caused chiefly by large and numerous real estate developments which have taken place in the suburban areas since 1947," Clark asserted.

"Real estate values in the 30 country townships outside Chicago have gone up 20 per cent in the past four years," he stated. "There also has been considerable industrial expansion in the suburbs," Clark said.

It's Table Top Magic!

When a card table is too small for extra dinner or card guests, use a table-extender, which will seat up to six persons comfortably. Made of a tough, dense hardboard such as Masonite 3/16" Tempered Presdwood, it is simply placed over the card table in two sections and then hooked together. The framework of 1 by 2-inch lumber keeps it in position. The hardboard surface takes a beautiful finish of stain, paint or enamel. When the guests have left, the table-extender may be quickly taken apart and stored in a closet. The hardboard is durable and moisture-resistant.

Johnsons beat Smiths at Illinois

The Johnsons nosed out the Smiths in a neck and neck race in the University of Illinois student directory this year. The Johnsons number 119 to the Smiths 117 while the Browns trailed far behind at 60 and the Jones family brought up the rear of the big four with 50.

This year's volume is a colorful publications with, besides the Browns, 27 Whites, 26 Greens, 16 Grays and one Grey, 12 Roses, 7 Blacks, 5 Blues, 4 each Tan and Rust, and a single Pinc. There are also 3 Golds, 2 Silvers, 5 Diamonds, 1 Purl and 2 miscellaneous Jewells.

ALL THE SEASONS are present with Winter leading with 5 representatives followed by 5 Summers, and one each Spring and Falls. There are also 5 Days, 4 Knights, and 3 Weeks.

A happy family, there are a Hug, a Kish and 2 Lovings; as well as one Jolly. Due and Bills are even up, one and one. The military are represented by a Major and a Sergeans who have a Chapel, a Ford, a Flagg, 5 Buntings, and 2 Gunns to keep them happy.

There is also a Cassells with 12 Butlers and a House on any one of 28 Hills. For the 6 Hunters there are 7 Woods and 4 Forests in which to hunt the 13 Foxes, 8 Wolfs, 7 Lyons and 4 Bucks.

THERE ARE 25 Scotts but only 1 Highlander to angle for the single Fisch in the 3 Firths.

And for dignitaries there are 21 presidential names represented—the Wilsons leading the list with 41 followed by 21 each Adams and Taylor, 17 Jackson, 12 Pierce, 9 Hayes, 8 Harrison, 5 each Buchanan, Grant and Hoover, 3 Tyler, 2 Polk, Jefferson, Taft, and Harding, and 1 apiece Cleveland, Garfield, Madison, Monroe, and McKinley.

Shortest name in the book is Pi Ng and the longest Wlodzimiezz Blagowidow and Alexander Beresniewicz. The first is Eric E. Aagaard, a junior who lives at 1360 E. 47th pl., Chicago; and the last is another Chicagoan, Tatiana Zykov, 7226 N. Greenview ave.

Howard Johnson to open first of 20 restaurants

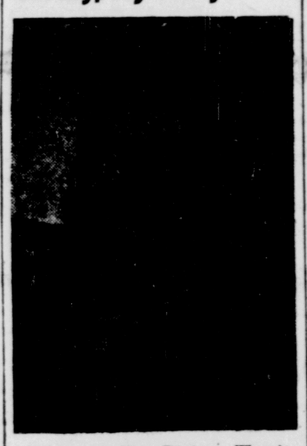

The first Howard Johnson restaurant is opening in Illinois at Caldwell and Touhy avenues shortly after the first of February.

Arthur A. Weller of Northbrook is the builder and landlord of the restaurant. Mr. Weller is the former owner of the Weller restaurant on Waukegan rd., Morton Grove.

The Howard Johnson restaurant will serve the same menus that have brought the 335 restaurants so much popularity in the East. Sea food, a children's menu, and 28 flavors of their famous ice cream will be featured.

Howard Johnson contemplates building 20 restaurants in the Chicago area.

'Goodby, My Fancy'

The next Des Plaines Theatre Guild attraction, "Good By, My Fancy," which will be given Feb. 20, 21, 22 and 23 at Rand Park, has in reality two male leads, Ed Sauer as the professor and college president, and Clayton Campbell as the Life reporter.

Always known for his character parts, this role gives Ed Sauer more of a straight part, yet maintains opportunity for comedy.

Clayton Campbell is a newcomer to the guild. His wife, Sallie Saunders, was seen in the role of Regina in The Little Foxes, but this is his first performance with this group. He has had a good background of experience through high school and at Kalamazoo College where he appeared in several plays and was director of the college radio station.

450 gone, 350 to go from Fairchild plant

"Deactivation" of the Fairchild aircraft plant at O'Hare Field, whose 165 plane contract was cancelled by the air force, will take about two or three months, according to a company spokesman. While about 450 workers have already been discharged, about 350 remain to "wind up" the huge stillborn project.

The "facilities contract" which authorized an expenditure of $20,000,000 to get the plant in shape; was cancelled Jan. 16. However, repair and modernization of the plant had almost been completed when the cancellation order was received. Approximately $15,000,000 had been spend by the taxpayers.

Decorating on a Budget

This attractive room shows how thrifty homemakers can achieve a "picture-book" setting, even on a slim budget. Here, the room is decorated with Cannon combspun percale sheets, trimmed with ball fringe. You have a choice of six soft, pastel colors or white; and it takes only four double-bed size sheets to have enough material for draperies, a swag, vanity skirt, single bedspread and round stool cover. (ANS Features)

Young couples change rug tastes

The current trend in floor coverings is to wall-to-wall size carpeting and cotton rugs, a recent survey reports.

A study made among one thousand young married families shows that room-size rugs in 9x12 dimensions are first choice of young married homemakers, but that wall-to-wall carpeting is gaining in popularity. When couples bought their first rugs after marriage, 52 per cent chose 9x12 sizes, while only 5 per cent bought wall-to-wall carpeting. On later rug purchases the number who bought 9x12 size had dropped to 34 per cent. Meanwhile, the number buying wall-to-wall carpeting had more than doubled, totaling 10 per cent.

The report found that 14 per cent of young couples buying their first rug selected cotton. On later rug purchases nearly 25 per cent of them preferred cotton.

DRESS GROWS WITH GROWING GIRL!

When Mrs. Alice Hopkins of Columbia, S. C., was faced with the problem which perplexes all mothers—that of her child growing out of her clothes too fast—she decided to do something about it. She designed a dress that would grow with the child. Made of washable cotton, her "Pixie Grow Tall Dress" permits proportionate growth in body and width, as well as permitting hem lengthening. Mrs. Hopkins says that a little girl can grow in every direction and still the cotton "grow tall" dress will provide perfect fit for two years.

There's more to the lamp shown on the recreation room wall in the sketch above than meets the eye. This attractive wall light not only gives small amounts of soft light but also contains a tiny ozone bulb that kills odors and banishes smells.

As shown in the inset drawing, this decorative unit uses both a regular 40-watt inside frosted household-type bulb and a tiny ozone bulb. Both sockets in this pin-to-wall lamp are operated by the same switch.

When used in recreation room, kitchen, bath, closets and other rooms, the ozone bulb will generate enough ozone (it's activated oxygen) to eliminate stale odors of cigarettes or cigars; cooking smells or mustiness.

The unit pictured above is one of three attractive styles available in dubonnet, ivory, green, gray, chartreuse, light green, light blue, Chinese red, white or yellow. The lamp which is all metal is six inches wide and nine inches high. Prices range from just under five dollars to almost six. The unit above sells for just under six dollars.

SCOUT LEADERS

More than 700,000 adults serve in the Boy Scouts of America as volunteer leaders.

'Round-the-Clock Snack Corner

A SNACK AT ANY HOUR IS THE RULE rather than the exception in the Joe E. Dempsey residence at Glencoe, Ill., where the parents enjoy having in friends equally as much as their college-age daughter and son. For convenience, Architect David S. Barrow provided the family with a snack corner and dining porch adjacent to the kitchen, both overlooking a golf course. Insulating Thermopane windows were specified in the house to add to the efficiency of air conditioning in summer as well as to reduce heat loss in winter.

Builders, buyers can get advice from circular

For the average American family whose biggest lifetime investment is building or buying a home, the small homes council at the University of Illinois offers practical advice in a revised and enlarged edition of its circular on "Financing the Home."

"Home financing is a mutual program as far as the homeowner and the lender are concerned," the circular emphasizes. "To avoid loss to either or both, the home must be financed on a sound basis."

The new publication covers steps in financing a home, beginning with how much a family can afford to spend.

TWENTY TO 30 per cent of family budget goes into housing—either in rent or ownership, it points out. Interest, taxes, insurance, and upkeep all are a part of home costs and must be anticipated. Illustrating this, a table shows the annual outlay for each $1,000 borrowed. This outlay varies according to interest rates and the number of years the loan runs.

For example, the cost per $1,000 borrowed — including all items mentioned above — varies from $114 a year on a 20-year loan at 4 per cent, to $174 a year on a 10-year loan at 6 per cent.

FOR SATISFACTORY home financing, the bulletin advises, "Borrow as little as necessary, instead of as much as you can.

"Do not overbuild or overbuy. If you spend more for housing than your budget will support, you may have to forego necessities as well as comforts. You may even be obliged to sell your property at a loss—or you may lose it."

To help prospective homeowners estimate the total amount they can spend for a home, a chart shows the amount of mortgage which various housing budgets will finance.

THE 12-PAGE bulletin provides a non-technical guide for the homeowner-to-be who is unfamiliar with financing procedures. It describes the types of mortgage loans; tells him where to go for a loan and the information he should get; explains the procedure in applying for a loan; and discusses the documents (note, mortgage, deed, title, abstract, insurance policy) involved in "closing the loan."

Single copies of the revised "Financing the Home" can be obtained free from the small homes council at the University until April, 1952. After that date they will be available for 10 cents, the same price as the other 24 circulars which the council has issued.

Bantam Battery

Weighing only 8 grams, this pint-size battery has made possible the tiniest flashlights ever. It is called the K-cell and is ⅜-inch in diameter and 1¾ inches long. Introduced recently by General Dry Batteries, Inc., Cleveland, Ohio, the battery is used with miniature penlights, keylights and lipstick-lights.

Weekly recipe

When I was growing up, mother prepared muffins at least once or twice a week. Today, few of us serve them, but muffins can mean success to an otherwise drab meal. Try brightening up your meals now and then by preparing Butter Cream (soured cream) muffins.

Butter Cream Muffins

1 cup butter cream (soured cream)
4 tbsp. melted butter
1 tsp. double acting baking powder
¾ tsp. salt
2 cups all purpose flour
2 tbsp. water
½ tsp. soda

Method: Sift dry ingredients together except soda. Dissolve soda in water and add to butter cream. Beat eggs until light and add to butter cream mixture. Add melted butter. Stir all into flour mixture. Grease muffin tins and pour in batter filling the tins 2/3 full. Bake in pre-heated oven at 450 degrees for 18 minutes.

Record number of new industries in area

New industries or branch plants making arrangements to locate in Chicago and northern Illinois during 1951 totaled 142, a gain of 48 per cent over 1950.

Ranging from small plants to industrial giants the new industries will add approximately $172,000,000 to the area's annual income in new payrolls. When all are in full operation it is estimated they will employ more than 45,000 people.

Of the 142 new plants in 1951, 49 were newly organized companies, 82 were branch plants and 11 were industries which moved their operations into the area from other locations.

Roomy enough for comfort

Three large bedrooms on a single floor, a spacious living area and a closely-knit working center are provided in this attractive house which any family would be proud to call home. It is Plan No. 302 of W. T. Anicka, 617 Forest, Ann Arbor, Mich.

Containing 1,300 square feet of floor space (a useful figure in computing local building costs), this house is of frame construction with a roof of fire-resistant asphalt shingles for ease of maintenance and long, economical service.

A BREAKFAST alcove, snack bar and ample cabinet space are features of the convenient kitchen. Sturdy hardwood plywood is suggested for the "built-ins" because of its strength, permanence and cost economy as well as the attractiveness of its easily-maintained hardwood veneer surfaces.

Open planning of the living room, reception hall and dining room gives spaciousness to the living area and serves to separate the work center from the three-bedroom unit. The bedrooms have generous closets with sliding wardrobe-type doors of plywood and hardwood face veneer. There is an extra large closet in the reception hall.

THE LAUNDRY is situated between the kitchen and garage and has both front and rear entrance. If desired, an extra bathroom or lavatory may be added adjacent to the laundry by a minor rearrangement of the steps leading to the basement.

Suitable either to a rural or urban setting, this home will look charming with color styling which features asphalt shingles in a dark shade for the roof to contrast with wide-paneled sidewalls in white.

Wash Those Blues Away

These days you owe it to yourself and to others to keep your spirits up and your morale high. The world needs people who don't get down-hearted, who are able to stay on the job, nerves steady and chin up.

Sometimes the simplest prescription is the best. And that's true of chasing the blues and bucking up morale. What can be better for this purpose than a good old-fashioned tubbing in soap and water?

You have often proved it to yourself by accident. After a good hot bath, with plenty of water and luxurious lather, you feel like a pre-inflation million dollars. It's just not human nature to feel gloomy when fresh from the tub. You have washed your cares away along with the day's dirt, and you can face the world again. No better method of building up the morale can be found. Try it and see.

Only a few precautions are needed for best results. Relax in water that is warm, but not too hot. It is the warm soapy water that makes you clean and refreshed—too hot water may be stimulating rather than relaxing. Use a long-handled brush for scrubbing your back, both for cleansing and for giving you that relaxed feeling. A brush with very soft bristles is best for both purposes.

There is a lot of difference in soaps, too, says Katherine Potter, director of beauty and grooming for Procter & Gamble. Mild, complexion soaps such as Camay or Ivory are kind to the skin and make a bath more enjoyable. They keep your skin soft and smooth—an easy way to make you ready to face the world with baby-freshness and grown-up courage.

To step up the morale, step into the tub! (ANS)

Fancy Pancakes for Lenten Dessert

During the Lenten season when meals are frequently lean and meager, add interest to your menu by serving a delicious dessert such as the one pictured here. This Pancake Pie is made of giant-size pancakes spread with tangy red currant jelly and then stacked sky-high. Cut this unusual "stack of wheats" in pie-shaped wedges and serve with mellow maple-blended syrup which adds so much to pancakes whatever the form in which they are served.

Pancake Pie

1¼ cups sifted flour
1¼ teaspoons double-acting baking powder
¾ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon sugar
1 egg, well beaten
1 cup milk
3 tablespoons melted shortening

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder, salt, and sugar, and sift again. Combine egg and milk; add gradually to the flour mixture, stirring only until smooth. Add shortening and mix thoroughly. Bake on hot greased griddle. Stack in pile; spread tart red currant jelly between cakes. Cut in pie-shaped wedges and serve with a generous amount of maple-blended syrup.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

That each day is a new challenge to materialism and an opportunity to grow in spiritual knowledge and understanding, will be explained in all Churches of Christ, Scientist. The title of the Lesson-Sermon on Sunday, February 10, is "SPIRIT."

The Golden Text is from Psalms (143:10) "Teach me to do thy will; for thou are my God: thy spirit is good; lead me into the land of uprightness."

Lesson-Sermon passages from the Bible (King James Version) include the following:

"And besides this, . . . add to your faith virtue; and to virtue knowledge; And to knowledge temperance; and to temperance patience; and to patience godliness; And to godliness brotherly kindness; and to brotherly kindness charity . . . For so an entrance shall be ministered unto you abundantly into the everlasting kingdom of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ" (II Peter 1: 5-7,11).

Selections from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, include:

"Every day makes its demands upon us for higher proofs rather than professions of Christian power. These proofs consist solely in the destruction of sin, sickness, and death by the power of Spirit, as Jesus destroyed them. This is an element of progress, and progress is the law of God, whose law demands of us only what we can certainly fulfil" (p. 233).

Leader of men

Oh Happiest they of the Human Race to whom our God has given Grace to hear, to fear and to read and pray; to lift the latch and force the way. But better had they never been born who shall read to doubt or shall read to scorn.

THE GOLDEN RULE

Only what God puts into the hearts and minds and souls of men may last forever. By struggle men shall achieve, not by gift. That is, and has been, and shall be God's law. The child that is to be richer than Rockefeller and an inventor greater than Edison, and a leader of men more powerful than what the world has even known.

THE SERVANT

I simply claim the intuition of discerning all things in the physical, mental and spiritual life, and all things in the material world, including perpetual motion.
And so the finger of God moves on, nor all your pity, nor wit, nor all your tears shall wash out one word of it.

DEATH

Look into a dead man's eyes and what do you see—nothing but a vacant stare therein where the soul has left the body to be judged by God what you have been on this earth.

PRAYER AND OATH

Help me. O God, I pray, that in thy wisdom thou has given me a man task; help me that I may not prove unworthy before God and my fellow men.

THE MIRACLE

The miracle is one who has brought his soul in touch with God the Father, therefore a mind higher and greater than anyone else, or what anyone has ever thought of; therefore, the people shout a miracle, and so God is here.
Religion of today instead of worshipping God, they now worship a series of forms, traditions, idols and images, dollars and cents.
God and man may meet on the street, in the bush or on the sea—are you prepared to meet him? Nature performs miracles for farmers and lets him read secrets and a secret lies therein.

Looking for a particularly funny or humorous Valentine? Bet you'll find the ones you want at the Squire Shop on Northwest hwy. as you approach Palatine.

The enterprising owners of the Squire Shop added another feature to their store when they installed a novelty trick and gag counter. Gay cocktail napkins and teeth that boast "they walk, they talk and are alive" are just two of the items available at this counter.

The Squire Shop is putting in a plug for the men, and I agree with them. Don't neglect the man who is always so thoughtful . . . surprise him with a little gift on Valentine's Day.

Many new handbags are now on display. Surprise the queen of your heart with a pretty new bag and one or two of those hankies with festive red heart trimming.

Trays and trays of new earrings, perfect for late winter and spring wear, are at Pearce's. I know my mother would love to look through those trays. It seems she just can't collect enough earrings, but I must admit they do add a bright touch to every costume.

Nylon hose and rayon slips are other gift suggestions not to be overlooked.

LETTERS of Judge Banks

To all my neighbors:

LINCOLN'S BIRTHDAY

The sayings of that wise humanitarian Abe Lincoln, spring to the mind in these turbulent times.

In a comparison of the two statements below, ones first impression is one of conflict; but upon analysis it is found that one compliments the other.

"The ballot is stronger than the bullet."

"Force is all conquering ... but its victories are short lived."

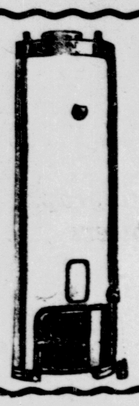

The Commies would not like Abe Lincoln, for in these statements he has expressed the belief that the inate goodness and reasoning power of the people is a vital force ... that though physical power may for a time seemingly overwhelm the masses, the spirit of the people is unconquerable.

Way Back When

"Our Aim: To Fear God, Tell The Truth, and Make Money." — H. C. Paddock, 1898-1935

The story of Mt. Prospect fire fighting from the days of wells and cisterns

In 1913 Mt. Prospect was a settlement of some 20 homes, a church and public school, a bank and stores. A form of government had been set up in 1911, known as the Mt. Prospect Improvement association.

Prompted by the realization that the community was destined to grow and develop, a group of public minded men met the evening of September 29 in the school house to organize a volunteer fire department. They got right down to business and wrote a constitution and by-laws which were adopted November 8. C. D. Busse was elected the first chief. Others of the original roster who still live in the village or nearby include John Pohlman, first secretary; L. H. Haberkamp, treasurer; A. E. Busse, engineer, and Herman Meyn, Christ Wille and Albert Wille.

THEY SHOPPED AROUND for equipment, testing out a chemical tank and bucket system, and investigating a pumper offered for sale by Glenview. Early in 1914 the hand pumper now on dispaly in the station was purchased for $60 from Niles Center (Skokie). Next the department purchased a fire bell from Arlington Heights for $8, and had it mounted in a special belfry on Wille's Hall at Wille st. and Northwest hwy. The modern Wille store building incorporates part of the hall.

An extension ladder, roof ladder, two axes, two pick poles, and six lanterns completed the equipment.

Most of the calls were for chimney and prairie fires. They were never more than a couple of blocks away, and the pumper was drawn to the fire by hand. It was the duty of the chief to pick out the road to the fire, and at night to carry a lantern. The first nozzleman was to "run on the drag rope just in front of the poleman." Arriving at the fire, he was ready to instantly direct a stream of water from his 100 feet of 1½" hose. Before the 10 gallon prime tank of water on the pumper could be used up, the assistant chief and second nozzleman, also designated axman, were delegated to make a connection with the nearest cistern or well.

STRICT DISCIPLINE was required. The by-laws list as a special duty of the chief "to scalp anyone who borrows anything from the engine or any other apparatus." Provision was made to vote out of the department any member who failed to attend three consecutive meetings, and judging from the early minutes, no quarter was given. Occasionally a repentant member was allowed to reinstate his name on the waiting list.

There were frequent parties, smokers, dances, picnics and banquets, but primarily then as now the men were organized to be ready in case of fire, and they ran no risk of insubordination or indifferent interest on the part of any member.

As the settlement spread south of the railroad, A. F. Jahncke opened a general store where the flat building at 208 S. Emerson now stands. The little hand pumper was ineffective when a spectacular fire burned the building to the ground. The records do not show the date, but children who were attending the Lutheran school about 1915 well remember marching to the Wm. Kirchhoff home at 109 S. Emerson where they watched the blaze from a safe distance.

The last big fire where the hand pumper was used was a straw stack on the Herman Oehlerking farm in 1918. Although the adjacent barn had already caught fire, the men were successful in putting out the flames and saving the structure.

THE PUMPER'S CAREER was far from ended. In 1933-34, Major Lohr borrowed it for a stellar role in the Chicago World's Fair "Century of Progress." Again in the recent Railroad fair, it made an appearance in the "Wheels A Rolling" pageant.

In 1918, the fire department and citizens, through subscriptions, purchased a 1915 Buick truck. Two 40 gallon soda acid chemical tanks were mounted on the chassis, with 200 feet of one inch chemical hose. In the minutes this truck is referred to as "the outfit." Earlier, reference was frequently made to a hook and ladder. When "the outfit" was acquired, it carried ladders and served the needs of the department until 1929. When last heard of, it had ben converted into a vegetable truck by a near-by farmer.

The village had incorporated in 1917, and some funds were available for the fire department. In 1921 the first electric siren was purchased. It was mounted on a phone pole on Busse ave. east of Main st.

FOUR FIRES WERE worthy of mention in the minutes during 1921. They were at Rev. Mueller's house on February 26, Elk Grove forest preserve on July 17, Burke's property at depot on July 20, and the Northwestern Power & Light company on September 3.

The light company was operated by the Improvement association. It was a cooperative proposition, with only members, each of whom owned stock, being eligible to have electricity in their homes. The generator was where the water tower now stands. Fumes from the hard coal screenings burned to generate the power had caused the company to change over to gasoline, and the gas tank was adjacent to the building housing the generator.

Along about 10 p. m. the night of September 3, folks who were still up noticed their lights dim and finally go out. Looking out the windows, they could see flames shooting skyward from the power company. There was nothing to be done, so most of the village stood around helpless and watched their light system destroyed.

That was thirty years ago, and one of today's firemen, just a lad at that time, recalls overhearing his elders remark that it was a pretty good thing because they wanted Public Service to come in anyway. Public Service did. They bought out the company and have been servicing the village ever since.

Installation of a municipal water works system in 1923 brought about many changes. A village hall was built beside the water tower. It served to house the number one well, with a room for council chambers and garage space for the fire truck. A new siren was mounted on the tower, and 500 feet of 2½ inch hose was added to the equipment inventory.

WILLIAM BUSSE JR. had recently opened his dry goods store in the Busse block which had just been completed on Main st., when, in September of 1927, a defective incinerator caused a fire at the back of the store. It was here firemen learned a lesson that has become part of their code. They entered the smoke filled store from the front, and the over-anxious nozzleman played a stream of water down the aisle all the way to the seat of the fire. Rookies are now carefully instructed to use water only on the fire itself.

Otto Landeck later took over the store, and was succeeded by Wm. F. Kenning, who last fall closed out the stock.

In 1928 the village, by bond issue, purchased the triple combination American LaFrance 500 gallon pumper which has been in continuous service. It is due to be completely overhauled. Parts have been ordered and some have been received. A check of the instrument panel shows the truck has traveled a total of 1,117 miles in its 23 years of service. Originally it had no windshield, and the department appropriated for goggles for the driver, later having a windshied installed.

THERE IS A THREE year gap in the minutes, from May 1915 to March 1918. At the annual meeting in January 1919 Ernst Busse was elected chief, followed the next year by Joe Ehard; Wm. Busse Jr. succeeded to the office in 1921. H. F. Meyn was elected in 1922, and continued as chief until he became village president in 1929.

On May 2, 1929, Frank Biermann was elected chief. He had joined the department February 4, 1915, and held various offices. Today he has two assistant chiefs, Edwin Haberkamp and Fred Meeske.

The first fireman's carnival was held in August, 1929, and continued as an annual event for several years. More recently it is held biennially, in odd numbered years, with the VFW holding a similar affair in the even numbered years.

FARM FIRES were often dramatic. One especially remembered was when the Louis Oehlerking barn burned. It was at midnight, and in the glow from the flames pigeons could be seen circling the barn. The horses and chickens ran and flew back into the blazing barn and the firemen were unable to save them.

The firemen still shiver when they talk about the fire at the Roland Dahlstrom home. It was 26 degrees below zero when the frame wall adjoining the fireplace caught fire. After the blaze was out, firemen nailed a canvas over the hole, sprayed it with water which immediately froze solid, forming a fine windbreak.

It was only 7 degrees below when the boiler shed at Haberkamp's greenhouse burned in 1929. The pit where the boiler is located was flooded, so the department did their bit to save the growing plants by pumping the water out and getting the boiler in operation before leaving.

Firemen were at their annual banquet when notified of a fire at 318 S. Ioka some years ago. Dressed in their best clothes, they hurried to answer the alarm. Luckily the first fireman to the door had a firm grasp on the hose. He stepped over the threshold into—nothing. The floor had burned out. A ladder was hurriedly put up, and the firemen entered through a second floor window, only to find they had stepped into the bathtub.

MT. PROSPECT RURAL Fire Protection League was organized in July, 1936, and at the request of the local department, purchased the Reo-Darley 500 gallon pumper. The Rural League has an agreement with the local volunteers and the village board to house and man their equipment, and in turn the equipment may be used for village fires.

"We were fortunate to convince Doc Wolfarth to become our department physician," Chief Bierman remarked. He became a member on February 4, 1937. "He drills us in inhalator and first aid work, and makes all runs when possible. Many times results would have been fatal without him."

The first inhalator was purchased early in 1938, and many lives have been saved by the quick response of a trained squad.

Barrel fights were part of the July Fourth celebrations about this time. After competing engine companies had tired of the game, citizens donned raincoats and boots and took their turn on the hose.

HISTORY OF THE new municipal building and fire station is a story in itself. The movement to create a fire house gained momentum early in 1943, and in July two lots north of Busse Garage were purchased by the department. U. S. Defense bonds were purchased toward the day a building could be erected, and dances were held to swell the fund. A building committee was appointed in January, 1945, and on February 1 a third lot adjacent to the others was purchased. After a dance in April the treasurer reported the building fund amounted to more than $10,000. The Lions ran a benefit dance in October, increasing the fund by another $500.

Commissioner Busse, with the interests of his village always at heart, recognized the needs of the fire department and also of the village for a new municipal building. He extended an offer to the fire department to buy the $30,000 site at Northwest Highway and Maple street for $15,000, which they in turn donated to the village for a combination municipal building and fire station. The purchase was arranged on February 7, 1946, the deed presented to the village on June 30, and a $145,000 bond issue for the building voted on July 10, 229 to 13.

Firemen spent endless hours with the village board planning the building. First bids for construction were opened at a special meeting January 14, 1947, and all had to be rejected as the lowest was at least 50% over the bond issue.

Plans were redrawn, and when new bids were opened November 11, 1947, the contract was awarded to N. Raymond Peterson for $112,600. The first village board meeting was held in the new building January 11, 1949.

A LADIES' AUXILIARY, formed October 4, 1945, has served the department in a number of ways, not the least of which has been to handle the food booth at carnivals.

Carnival proceeds have been used to buy equipment, saving the taxpayers thousands of dollars. The rural league bought a 1,000 gallon oil tank truck in 1948, and had it converted to a water tanker for use at rural fires.

Most impressive is the emergency unit first displayed at the 1950 Fall Festival. Bought and equipped with 1949 carnival funds, it cost $4,500. Features include: 3,200 watt A. C. electric generator with two 500-watt spotlights, 1 500 watt flood, 1 250 watt flood light, 300 feet extra heavy cord, smoke ejector, inhalator, complete first aid kit, two CO-2 extinguishers, battery charger, foam generator nozzle and various other small tools.

NEW EQUIPMENT is constantly being added. Recently self-contained oxygen masks were acquired, and a cutting torch. The emergency unit was the envy of other departments, and has been frequently copied.

Only once has there been a Christmas tree fire, and that was a year ago at the home of an electrician. Even the firemen were astounded at how quickly it burned.

On February 21, 1950, the siren blew, then a minute or two later blew again. The bowling alley was on fire. Flames shot high in the air, floors burned through and collapsed, clouds of smoke drove the firemen back, and for a short time spectators feared the whole Albert Busse block would be destroyed. The efficient job done by the men that night spoke well for their regular drills and strict discipline. Des Plaines and Arlington Heights were called to help.

"Was there danger of running out of water?" a fireman was asked. "Never," he said. "After a while there was several feet of water in the basement, so we lowered a draft line into the basement and pumped it out and used it over."

Damage was estimated at $75,000.

Mt. Prospect has a reserve supply of water of 250,000 gallons in the reservoir and 25,000 in the standpipe.

ALARMS VARY GREATLY from year to year. In 1941, there was a stubborn fire in a clothes chute, two chimneys and two grass fires, a barn, a radio, a car, one false alarm and one inhalator call. Total property loss was $500. In 1948 there were 29 calls, total property loss $10. Sixteen prairie fires that year were careless and inexcusable. Village runs in 1951 totalled 64, with property damage amounting to $4,200. Included were 12 fires, 10 drills, eight inhalators, 22 prairie fires, five false alarms, one Christmas tree, assistance at the A&P fire in Arlington Heights, three cars and two miscellaneous. In addition, there were 17 rural runs.

Firemen meet twice a month for regular business, drills, study and upkeep of the fire station and equipment. They receive no pay except $3 for attendance at fires. The pay is the same whether it is a careless prairie fire, or a serious fire such as Hopper's where many men didn't get home until late the following afternoon.

Citizens voted a $22,000 bond issue last April to make possible the purchase of the new American LaFrance truck.

Deadline nears for state auto license

Secretary of State Edward J. Barrett requested Illinois motorists to speed up their applications for 1952 passenger and truck license plates. He urged that applications be sent in before February 15 in order to avoid a flood of requests at the last minute. It is customary to issue warnings to delinquent motorists in February.

● TOO MANY SNOWS

George Meyer and some more of the old-time weather observers are sort of disgusted with their system for forecasting the number of snow storms. This year the system has been way off the beam.

Their system calls for as many snow storms as the date of the month on which the first "tracking" snow falls. Well, this year the first snow came November 3 (the day Barrington snowed Palatine under in a regular blizzard).

According to that we were due for only three snow storms this winter and what did we get? So many storms that the observers have lost all count of them, and they are disgusted with their system; so is everyone else.

● IN A MONTH

But regardless of how many snows we have had or will have, in a month's time we should see the forerunner of the bird population. Within a month the first harbingers of spring should be showing up, there should be a few robins hopping around the lawns and a few blue birds should be seen out in the woods.

We used to see a lot of bluebirds around town in the old days, sitting on fence posts or hopping about in the hedge rows, but with the march of progress, the fences and hedgeroms have gone and a bluebird in town is a rare sight nowadays. (We are talking about the real bluebirds, not the blue jays who stay with us all winter).

Then, too, within a month there should be a few mourning doves calling their mournful cry early in the morning or at about sunset from the top boughs of some tall tree.

Also along about the same time a flicker or two ought to be hunting for a mate and making his unearthly racket, early in the morning, by hammering on the ridge pole of the house or pounding on the drain pipe.

Yes, within a month's time the advance guard of the spring bird migration should be sending in their scouts, and once those scouts get here, it's a sure sign that spring is really on the way.

● SLIGHT ERROR

The other morning Fred Oswald looked at his thermometer with the sun shining on it and saw that it read 26 degrees. "A fine day for surveying," thought Fred, so he called up his assistant, Johnny MacAfee, and told him to meet him out on the job.

When the boys got out in the field, Fred thought that the wind felt awfully cold for 26 degrees above, and he remarked to Johnny, "Gee, this is cold for 26 degree weather."

"Where did you get the idea it was 26?" asked Johnny. "It's just 6 degrees above right now." The boys only stayed on the job about five minutes— the next time Fred says he'll find a thermometer that the sun isn't shining on before he decides it's a nice warm morning for field work.

● TEN GALLON HAT

Johnny Nelson always did have a yen for those big wide-brim hats, but just keep your eye on him at the ball games this summer. He is going to blossom out in a genuine ten gallon Texas cowboy hat.

Tony Dolatowski is bringing him one of those headgears direct from "down in the heart of Texas." We had a letter from Tony and he said to tell Johnny that he had the hat—so watch out for the big boy under the big hat this summer.

After that funny little cap that Johnny sported for a season or two, that Texas sky piece is really going to be some comparison.

● REPUTATION

The ladies of Schaumburg township always did have a great reputation for serving fine meals. Everyone who ever ate at any of their church or society dinners over there can attest to that fact. Now it looks as if the coming generation is going to keep up that reputation.

Three girls from Schaumburg township served the dinner that was given recently at which the board of the Schaumburg-Hanover district were guests. The dinner was sponsored by the Palatine township high school board, and the young ladies who served it were members of the domestic science class of the Palatine high school.

Under the direction of Miss Barra, their teacher, those Schaumburg girls set a table that lived up to the best traditions of the dinners served by Schaumburg ladies for generations, and it looks as if the reputation of the ladies of that township was in good hands for the future and that the coming generation intends to keep up the fine work which their elders have done so well.

● NO RELIEF

Palatine township hasn't a single client on the relief rolls, or at least they didn't have when we talked to Supervisor Al DePue last week.

That's the first time in a long, long time there hasn't been at least a few people on the relief rolls, but for once the sheet is clean and it makes a person think of the days "way, way back when," when there was no such a thing as relief and everyone who wanted a job had one.

The clean sheet of the relief rolls at the present time is a vast contrast to those troubled days of the depression era when at times there were large numbers who had to ask for assistance for a time through no fault of their own.

Reports from some of the industrial areas are to the effect that in some townships the relief load is still very heavy.

● TULIPS

Allan Eddy of S. Plum Grove ave., Palatine, was the first to report spring flowers were starting to come up. Mr. Eddy reported that some tulips which were evidently kept nice and warm by the big snows and which were encouraged by the January thaw had popped out of the ground an inch or so.

It isn't very surprising that such a thing could happen, as there was no frost in the ground under that deep snow, there was plenty of moisture, and when those exceedingly warm days of the thaw came along it gave the bulbs enough of a boost to start them growing.

There are probably many bulbs of tulips, crocus, hyacinth etc., which have started beneath the snow and are just waiting for a few warm days to pop out of the ground.

Let's hope they don't pop too soon and then get frozen by late cold spells so that they won't bloom this spring.

● LAST CALL

State vehicle license numbers are getting way up in high figures fast, showing that a lot of autoists have bought their licenses. But there are also a lot of folks who haven't got them yet, and the state has announced that tickets will be given to all who haven't got the 1952 plates after February 15.

This deadline is two weeks earlier than usual, so don't get caught napping when the deadline rolls around. Clarence Berlin of the DePue office is still operating his license pickup service, giving quick and efficient attention to people who want their plates in a hurry, making twice a week pickups at the Chicago office. So, late buyers of plates can still get in under the deadline by contacting Clarence and getting quick service.

● NON STOP

Trustee Thieman of the Palatine village board was telling the board at the last meeting about the way the C. & N. W. was operating trains.

One morning the 7:16 was late and when a train appeared about 7:30, everyone crowded to the edge of the platform expecting the train to stop. But the train didn't stop—just whizzed through at a high rate of speed, and the would-be passengers had to tumble back out of the way to avoid being sucked under the train.

Mr. Thiemann thought some protest should be made about such carelessness. Attorney Mathews advised writing a letter to the division superintendent, writing as a citizen, saying that it wasn't any affair of the village board.

Well, maybe the protection of its citizens is some business of the village, especially when trains violate village ordinances by passing in the station area and things like that. These acts by the railroad are common occurrences. In this instance a village official just happened to be on the scene and saw what happened.

Some of the rest of us have been seeing such carelessness on the part of the railroad happen so often over so many years that we have simply got tired of hollering about them. Some day there will be some more fatal accidents and then watch the fur fly as everyone gets busy too late.

● WINTER BROKEN

The ground hog didn't have much luck in seeing his shadow Saturday, so according to him the backbone of the winter should be broken, but regardless of Mr. Groundhog and his forecasts, we will probably have several good samples of winter yet, and if the real break up starts in along about six weeks from now, no one will have much to complain about.

Out in Omaha, Neb., they report that the robins have arrived in goodly numbers, so if they are already showing up that far north, maybe an early spring is on the way.

This winter started early with its November blizzards and cold, so it just could happen the groundhog is right and that the worst is over.

JUST AROUND THE CORNER

from PATTY McARDLE

Dear Peg:

A week ago last Sunday was a beautiful, bright, sunny day (one of the few we have had during these past few weeks) and since we have been so confined to our apartment because of colds and inclement weather, Bob, Megan and I were anxious to get out and do something. So by about 11 a. m. we were dressed, in the car, and heading for the Coliseum to see the Sports and Outdoor Show. We had read the newspaper advertisement and knew that there was a floor show in which there would be Indians and trained bears, seals, and dogs. We felt certain that this would appeal to Megan even if the exhibits wouldn't.

We were surprised and a little chagrinned to see the terrific crown that was there, however, Bob carried Megan, I hung on for dear life, and we made our way around the various booths. I really felt that a good number of the booths could have been eliminated to make more room for some of the better displays. For instance, I couldn't see that a large booth of costume jewelry, two booths showing a massaging machine, and a booth displaying artificial flower arrangements, had anything to do with a Sports and Outdoor show.

WE DID ENJOY the display of fowl found in Illinois and the handsome big "Huskies" brought here from northern Minnesota. Of course, Bob enjoyed seeing the latest in fishing and hunting accessories and I was attracted to the "Buckskin booth" — particularly to a pair of precious little handsewn, beaded moccasins that would have just fit Megan.

Perhaps the most interesting and certainly the most extensive display was the "Mays Tropical Exhibit." In a special room set aside for this display was case after case of perfectly beautiful tropical butterflies and moths, and perfectly hideous tarantula spiders and beetles!

Before the floor show began, we had lunch and found our seats. The first act consisted of several dances done by seven colorfully befeathered Indians. The changing tempo of the dances, the beating of the tom-tom, and the jingling of the bells they wore around their ankles fascinated Megan.

A LARGE POOL in the middle of the building provided a place for the log rolling act. A Dalmatian stole the show with hoop-jumping and balancing tricks on the moving log.

Of all the acts, we thought the trained seals and bears were the best. It was amazing to see the seals, while swimming in the pool leap gracefully, what seemed to be about five feet, through a hoop and back into the water! The bears, all wearing funny polka dot skirts and hats, sat in little chairs until each had a turn at performing. They climbed ladders and slid down slides, rode bicycles, and roller skated, but when the attendant put one of them on a motorcycle and made him go around and around in a circle, I felt it was really cruel. I'm certain that if I had been old "Bruno" I would have tossed that noisy contraption into the pool along with the attendant, ripped off the silly "polka dots," and headed for the North woods where a bear is a bear!

On the whole the Sports and Outdoor Show was good and we all enjoyed it, however, by 6 p.m. we were glad to get away from the crowds and back to the peace and quiet of our little suburban apartment.

My love,
Patty

Help Navajos

Norman Foster, one of our great motion picture directors in Hollywood, has made an appeal for the Navajo Indians of Arizona who are greatly in need of help. He knows the Navajo country as few people know it. We think his appeal for his friends, needy Navajo children, is worth passing along. He writes the following:

"Looking though some old issues of Arizona Highways magazines, I came across magnificent color shots of Navajo on a snow covered butte overlooking Monument Valley. It made me wonder what kind of winter the Navajo children are having this year. I remember the last one. They had come from Black Mountain and Rough Rock, from the rims of Canyon de Chelly and the mountains of Lukachukai If a surprise load of clothing, food, candy, and toys hadn't arrived at the Franciscan Mission at the last moment, many children would have gone sadly back to their hogans empty-handed, for funds were low and needed for medical supplies.

"This year has been unusually hard, even for a people long used to drought and famine. Perhaps some of your readers can send warm clothing or toys. They don't have to be new. Canned baby food and vitamins are also urgently needed. These priests are doing a wonderful job. They deserve our help."

Now he tells us

Last October, the 8th or 9th, I lost the following money while visiting Arlington Heights:

1 American $20 bill.
1 Canadian $20 bill.
1 Canadian $10 bill.

After the above date I visited in eastern S.A. and eastern Canada, and on my return I did not have the time to call regarding the above. Am of the opinion I lost the money at the theater corner.

Open house

May I take this opportunity to thank those in charge of Open House at Arlington Heights township high school, Tuesday evening, Jan. 22. I'm sure I speak for the majority of parents who attended this enjoyable meeting with our high school board, Principal L. Knoeppel, and fine teachers.

We citizens can be justly proud of our splendid school and its capable high school board and last, but not least, the magnificent new building additions.

E. M. Creamer,

Teacher's pay

There are many teacher's wives in this area who are in the same boat as the one who wrote you last week. It is extremely difficult to make our husband's pay cover the ever-increasing cost of living.

At our house, rent, food, and the barest necessities exhaust every pay check. My husband wants to stay in this work, but he may be forced out of it by the need to replace our worn-out clothing. I am not exaggerating.

Another teacher's wife

Man's best friend

Dogs are man's best friends and many dog owners treat them as such. There are others, however, who treat them as man's worst enemies, and send them out to forage in neighbors' garbage cans. This is particularly true in the vicinity of Prospect Ave. and Elmhurst rd., Mt. Prospect.

Here the dogs have even begun to gang up, such as the trio this morning which consisted of two near-Shepherds, which in coloring resembled timber wolves, and a little black and white fox terrier. Individually, and in proper setting, these dogs perhaps could earn the term "cute."

But in neighbors' yards—well, there are other words. Does Mt. Prospect have any rules about keeping dogs out of other people's gardens?

Gardener,
Mt. Prospect.

Honor athletes

In these times, when troubles are prevalent and distressing to most of us, would it not be an idea to do something which might take our minds away from such things—at least for the time being.

The interest in knowing and recognizing some of our young people is apparently lacking in Arlington Heights due to our own troubles and more especially to the fact that we are perhaps too "Big Cityfied."

Undoubtedly there will be a dedication basketball game in the new high school gym this winter. It would be a fitting time to honor four young men for their present athletic achievements.

The following who are active at present are:

"Dick" Bokelmann, past captain Northwestern University baseball team, now with the St. Louis "Cardinals" baseball team.

"Marv" Bershet, defensive left tackle, University of Illinois Big Ten champions and Rose Bowl team, also captain of U. of I. track team.

Vern Rascher, captain University of Illinois golf team.

Bill Wille, captain Tulsa university basketball team.

There may be others who deserve this credit, but the following are the only ones of whom I know:

Bob O'Hagen, past captain of Marquette university football team.

George Schneberger, seven letter winner at Northwestern university.

If the high school officials could arrange this public acclamation for these men, having as many of them present as possible, I believe it would have a good effect on our present school generation and help the rest of us come closer to being "The Village of Good Neighbors." Other towns in Illinois are giving recognition to "Their Sons," why not Arlington Heights?

Sports Enthusiast,
Arlington Heights.

Three cheers

"Three cheers!" for the forthright letter written by a teacher's wife in last week's issue.

She adequately summed up the problems faced by our family, as well as the plight of teachers in general.

Children are their parents' most precious possession, and the education of these children should assume its relative importance.

If men and women of superior intelligence and ability are to be lured into the teaching field and kept there, the bait must be attractive enough to assure them a substantial yearly increment worthy of their ability.

The satisfaction in teaching cannot compensate for unpaid bills or an empty savings account.

Another "Teacher's Wife,"

Young Bob Nolan

What is all this talk about Wauconda's great basket ball player setting such a scoring record this season?

This student always looked older than the ordinary basketball player and, come to find out, he is past his nineteenth birthday. Wheras the ordinary student is between seventeen and eighteen. I don't say the student should be banned from sports, but any record he makes should never be talked about, because he is nearly two years older than the normal student.

Palatine has had some very good basketball players the past years, the same age, which are in their second year of college now. I don't think this student of Wauconda is a better player than any other nineteen year old player or student.

With all of the basketball scandals the past year, and some of the things like calling 34 fouls on one team in a game at Lake Zurich a few weeks ago, and the fight at Grant over the game Saturday night with Dundee, one wonders what is going to become of this fine sport.

P. S. I would like to see Bob play in a game with fellows his own age.

Why Enamel Peels In Bathroom?

"I enameled a bathroom. Recently we discovered that the enamel is coming loose. The upper part is perfectly okay. It is only coming off the lower part. The top and bottom were all done with the same enamel. Can you tell me what caused the peeling? It just peels off like rubber.

It might have been a thin film of dried soap on the bathroom walls which prevented anchorage of the enamel. It is quite evident from the sample which you sent that the last coat of enamel never anchored itself to the previous coat.

Good care of ewe saves lambs and raises profits

Your profits in sheep raising will depend on the number and weight of animals you sell. And good care of the ewe at lambing will increase your profits by saving more lambs for the market

U. S. Garrigus, head of the sheep work in the Illinois college of agriculture, says the ewe needs plenty of good-quality roughages to eat after she comes off pasture; and, after lambing, plenty of clean water with the chill removed.

FOR ROUGHAGES, Garrigus suggests feeding legume hay or grass silage alone, or corn silage supplemented with protein and limestone. A grain supplement, which can be a mixture of corn and oats, should be added to the ration about a month before lambing. Feed each ewe from ½ to ¾ pound of mixture each day until lambing.

Separate the ewes that are about to lamb, and visit their quarters frequently. Garrigus says you can probably save some lambs out of each crop by just being there if something goes wrong.

AFTER LAMBING, hurdle the ewe and her lamb in a pen by themselves so they can get used to each other. When the ewe is running with her lamb, double the feed she was getting before lambing.

One other tip: Provide a non-drafty creep for the lambs, with clean, dry bedding and the choicest feed in the rack.

Farmers Put "Heat" On Chicks and Young Stock With Infrared Lamps

By IRA MILLER
Farm Electrification Bureau

Infrared brooding is a method of raising poultry under infrared lamps. Suspended over the brooding area, these lamps provide a zone of concentrated radiant energy in which the birds remain comfortable regardless of the air temperature in the room. The size of the comfort zone depends upon the number of lamps and their positions. Under the lamps the chicks are free to move about and select their own individual comfort requirements, just as they do when basking in the sun.

Infrared brooding is simple to handle, and equipment and installation costs are low. Let's look at how it's done:

For chicks—Lamps are suspended over the brooding area not lower than 15 inches above the litter. One 250-watt lamp will serve from 60 to 100 chicks, depending on weather conditions. When chicks are small, it is recommended that a 12 to 15-inch high metal or cardboard guard be placed around the lighted area, or comfort zone, to prevent drafts and confine chicks for the first few days. As chicks grow the lamps are raised, since less heat is required and a larger comfort zone is needed. If weather gets extremely cold, the lamps can be lowered or more lights added for additional warmth. Operational costs can be reduced, particularly when units of 3 or more lamps are used, through the installation of a conventional thermostat and micro switch. No more than 2 lamps should be connected to each micro switch.

For pigs (in pens)—Lamps are suspended a minimum of 20 inches above the litter. Guards should be located in a corner of the pen to prevent mashing by the sow.

A large part of the success of infrared brooding depends on adequate wiring and usual good management practices. Farmers should check their equipment and setup with their power suppliers to be sure they have sufficient transformer capacity, and that wiring is large enough to provide 115 volts at the brooding units when in operation.

Infrared brooder lamps should be suspended by wires, chains or brackets. Heavy-duty, rubber covered cord, not more than 8 feet long, should be used to connect each brooder to its own power outlet. The safe and reliable operation of your brooding installation depends upon your wiring system—be sure it meets the requirements of the National Electrical Code.

Infrared brooding has many advantages. These include less labor, low initial cost, ability to see chicks and young pigs at all times and low maintenance costs. Also, water, placed in the comfort zone of the brooder lamps, will not freeze.

Small towns can survive by providing for farmers' needs

Small towns with populations under 2,500 can survive the competition from larger cities by specializing in providing the immediate services that farmers need.

C. L. Folse, rural sociologist in the Illinois college of agriculture, says these services include excellent machinery repair shops, banks, local elevators, groceries, drug stores and medical service. Farmers need these services from day to day. They can be provided more economically in smaller towns than in larger ones, but they must be equal in quality to those obtainable in larger towns. Folse adds that village residents must make farmers feel that they are a part of the community. The interests of the two groups depend so much on each other that each can profit in many ways by improved relationships and efforts toward improving community life.

Folse warns that farmers will take their business elsewhere if small towns do not meet their needs.

Cash grain sales volume goes up 75 per cent since 1935

Marketings of cash grain have increased more than sales of any other farm product in Illinois during the past 15 years.

L. J. Norton, University of Illinois agricultural economist, today pointed out that the increase from 1935 to 1950 was from 204 million to 359 million bushels, or 75 per cent. Few people realize that this major change has taken place.

Norton says the only product which approached cash grain in rate of increase was eggs, which went up 50 per cent in sales from 1940 to 1950.

The increase in cash grain sales represents the growing use of Illinois soybeans, corn and oats in industry, in foreign countries and as feed in other parts of our country.

Annual meeting of soil district set for Feb. 18

Directors of the North Cook soil conservation district will hold their annual meeting at 1:30 p. m., Monday, February 18, at the farm bureau building in Arlington Heights. Three district directors will be elected to serve two year terms at that time. The present directors whose terms expire are Wilmer Rohlwing, Palatine; and Emil Hattendorf, Elgin.

The directors have invited Paul Montavon, director of the DeKalb soil conservation district, to speak at their meeting. Montavon is a dairy farmer living near DeKalb, who has been active in soil conservation work for the past several years. He has been farming in partnership with his father since 1936.

THEIR FARM was purchased because of convenient location to school and church. Their long time program of soil management has been a basic factor in improving their farm business to a high productive level. Their records verify results which may be achieved by proper management of land.

The Montavon dairy herd has ranked high in the herd improvement association records for many years. He has been feeding silage made of grass-legume mixtures for 15 years and is recognized as an authority on preparing grass silage for best results in dairy feeding. He has extensive experience with practices which improve soil structure, retard erosion, and increase yields.

All farmers who are interested in improving their topsoil are invited to attend the district's annual meeting. This will afford an opportunity to become familiar with district objectives and procedure. Montavon's talk will be based on proven experience under northern Illinois conditions.

Resolve now to rid your herd of brucellosis

Here's a tip for dairymen w still haven't made a New Yea resolution: If your dairy h has brucellosis, start getting of the disease right away.

Dr. G. T. Woods, University Illinois College of Veterina Medicine, says even a magicia won't be able to help you if you delay starting to rid your dairy herd of brucellosis. After January 1, 1955, Grade A milk must come from brucellosis-free cows.

"NEARLY 20 per cent of the dairy herds and 5½ per cent of the cattle in Illinois have brucellosis," Dr. Woods says. "In some dairy herds it will take several years to raise replacements for cows that should be marketed. That's why eradication programs shoud be started now."

Dr. Woods advises that if you have a brucellosis-free herd now you should take every precaution to keep it that way. If you have an infected herd, see your veterinarian about starting an eradication program. And write to the University of Illinois College of Veterinary Medicine, Urbana, for Circular 554 on brucellosis in cattle.

And here's anoher tip: If you buy replacements for your herd, the safest ones to get are tested, brucellosis-free, unbred heifers.

Treat fence posts yourself and save

You can save both time and money in keeping up fences by treating the wooden posts yourself with chemical preservatives.

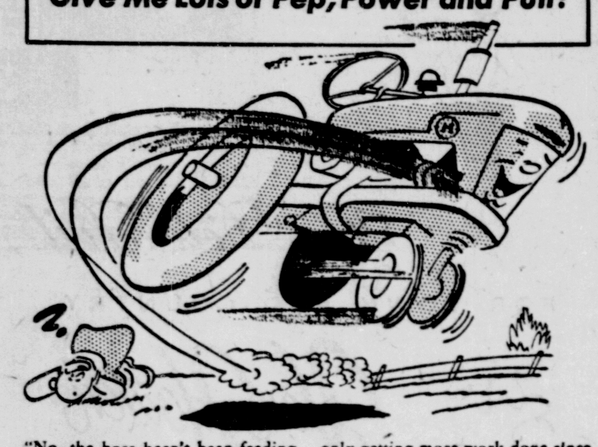

W. L. Meek, forester in the Illinois College of Agriculture, says that more than 20 million wooden fence posts are used in Illinois every year. Many of these would last longer if treated properly with chemicals before the posts are put into the ground. And you can save as much as 50 per cent of the cost of the posts if you treat your own instead of buying commercially treated ones.

Tests at the college indicate that a homegrown fence post, properly treated, should last at least 15 years. About 1,200 posts used in the tests were set in fence lines in 1942. In 1951 more than 90 per cent of these posts were still sound, and Meek says they apparently will last for several more years.

Preservatives used in the tests included pentachlorphenol — or penta — copper naphthenate and a 100-SS salt solution. The cold-soak method—the easiest to use on your farm—was used in treating most of the posts.

For more information on how to treat your own fence posts, write to the College of Agriculture, Urbana, or ask your farm adviser for Circular 636, "Preserve Your Posts With Penta," or F114, "Treating Fence Posts on the Farm With Creosote."

"'You know,' he said, 'I'm not only getting more work done since I had those IH matched pistons and sleeves put in, but I'm getting it done cheaper. I've already made more than the cost of the job in oil and fuel saved. Besides, it's a lot more fun driving a tractor with lots of zip and go.'"

'People Act' radio series aid to Community Betterment here

A new radio series, "The People Act," shows promise of helping communities to become better, happier, more interesting places to live, according to Carl F. Mees, Cook county farm adviser.

The programs tell true stories about communities that solve problems of every-day living. They stress cooperative action in analyzing problems and needs. And they encourage communities to look within themselves for the leadership needed to carry out their plans.

Mr. Mees points out that the series ties in directly with the "Community Betterment" project of the University of Illinois College of Agriculture.

The college project, under the supervision of Professor A. T. Anderson, already has been successful in encouraging and helping communities to solve their own problems. Anderson is a member of a special planning committee assisting with "The People Act" series.

The programs are presented by the TV-Radio Workshop, established by the Ford foundation, and are non-commercial. They can be heard in this area on Station WBBM (780), Sunday, between 9:05-9:30 p. m.

Pastor's Nickname

"Clothesline" Bill is the nickname of Rev. Samuel Bell who obtained funds for his Minneapolis suburban church by asking for "folding money" that could be pinned on a clothesline.

Antibiotics increase gains in growing pigs

Antiobiotics in growing-fattening rations of pigs has increased the average rate of gain by 10 to 20 per cent.

Farm Adviser Carl F. Mees says that you can also save up to 10 per cent in feed costs by including antibiotics in the ration. Your pigs may eat more feed, but they will put on more pounds of gain for the pounds of feed they eat.

THE MOST effective antibiotics for swine rations are aureomycin, bacitracin, procaine penicillin and terramycin. You won't need to feed antibiotics any heavier than at the rate of 10 grams in each ton of total ration. Supplements fed with grain to growing-fattenings pigs should therefore contain 30 to 60 grams of antibiotic a ton.

Addition of antibiotics to the ration will enable many runts and unthrifty pigs to make normal and efficient gains. For best results leave the antibiotic in the ration all through the growing-fattening period.

Feeding antibiotics may also be very helpful in preventing and controlling scouring and certain forms of enteritis. It may not prevent enteritis where resistant strains develop.

RESULTS of limited research indicate that antibiotics are of little or no value in rations for pregnant or lactating sows. Inclusion of antibiotics in the creep rations for suckling pigs is recommended because of the possible value in controlling scours and in increasing feed consumption of the pigs.

Just remember, Mr. Mees says, that antibiotics in the ration are not a substitute for a good, balanced feeding program. You still need protein, minerals and vitamins in the proper drylot or pasture supplement to balance the home-grown grains.

Your pigs will not reach the maximum gains on the minimum of feed unless you have a good sanitation and disease control program, a good management program and a good breeding program.

LAW on the FARM

Protecting the ownership of farm machinery

In 1874 the Illinois legislature made it a criminal offense to " . . . alter or deface the mark or brand of any horse, mare, colt, jack, jennet, mule, or any one or more head of neat cattle or sheep, goat, hog, shoat, or pig, the property of another with intent to steal . . . "

Recognizing the shift from horse to tractor economy the 1951 legislature made it a criminal offense to " . . . remove, alter, deface or destroy the manufacturer's serial number . . . or identification mark upon any tractor, hay baler, combine, corn picker, mower, grain drill, planter, plow or other farm machine, farm implement or piece of farm equipment for the purpose of concealing or destroying the identity thereof."

Farm machinery dealers cannot legally sell machinery or equipment on which the number or mark has been destroyed without first procuring an identifying mark. This may be done by applying to the director of the State Department of Agriculture on blanks supplied by the department. The application must be accompanied by a $5 fee. If the department approves the application it issues an identifying number for the owner to stamp on the machine, after which the machine may be sold and transferred as though the original number or mark were on it.

Penalties for a first offense are a maximum fine of $200 and a maximum jail sentence of six months; for a third and subsequent offense imprisonment for one to five years. If the offender is a corporation a fine of from $2,000 to $10,000 may be imposed.

This law is in the Illinois Revised Statutes, Chapter 38, Sections 447a-447d.

DON'T EMPHASIZE ARCHITECTURAL DEFECTS

Undersized and badly placed windows are the most common architectural defect encountered by home-planners today. Especially in older-type homes. That commonly seen group of sill-high triple windows centered in an end or side wall. Short sill-length curtains only call attention to their diminutive dimensions — make the room look old-fashioned and dated.

PLAY THEM DOWN WITH CAMOUFLAGE

With a little imagination they can be made one of the room's decorative assets — pulled into one unit for instance. An effective treatment (sketched) uses extra wide nylon or organdy tie-backs extending over the triple unit, tied together with colorful chintz valance. This forms an attractive background for sofa group.

We have many more ideas for camouflaging undersized windows. Come in and let us help you plan window treatments that will form an effective background for your furnishings.

Tables contribute enormously to the comfort as well as the beauty of a room. We have a wide selection of small tables and cordially invite you to come in and look them over. We're sure you'll find just what you need.

PS Co. may succeed court fears to tread

Public Service company's projected 132,000 volt Skokie-Des Plaines power line may have more effect in closing Mrs. Ruth Ullrich's East River rd. trailer camp, near Des Plaines, than a Superior court announcement Aug. 2, 1950 that a fine of $500 per day for contempt of court would be levied if it wasn't closed. The fine would now total more than $260,000.

However, there is a question about the fine's legality inasmuch as an official order was never signed by the court.

Public Service recently purchased a 175 ft. wide strip across the south end of her property, without which, he attorney says, she cannot operate profitably.

About Your Health

If more attention were directed to safety hazards, the great number of accidents in the home each year could be reduced. Maiming, severe crippling and even death, particularly in the young child, could be averted if parents watched more closely the simple things that cause accidents, the Educational committee of the Illinois State Medical Society points out in a health talk.

Falls are responsible for the greatest number of tragedies. A staircase cluttered with toys or kitchen equipment is one menace. Small rugs on waxed floors slide when stepped on. Electric cords lying loosely on the floor trip the unobservant passerby. A wobbly chair used instead of a ladder often collapses under weight.

ELECTRICAL equipment is responsible for occasional death of many small children and even adults. Be sure all connections are tight and covered and that wire insulation is not broken or worn off. Electrocution often occurs when small wet hands touch an appliance, or poke into wallplugs. The hazard is great in the laundry or bathroom where a ground connection is accidentally established.

Poisons are common in the home in the form of roach powder, lye, antiseptics, cleaning fluid, moth balls, or the left-over stuff in the medicine cabinet. Keep them out of children's reach, and separate from food.

A child's natural curiosity should be encouraged, for that is one way he develops, but the parent must guide his curiosity away from dangerous objects. Scissors, knives, razor blades and needles should be kept out of his reach. Wait till he is older before entrusting the youngster with too much responsibility in handling these objects.

SUFFOCATION is a frequent cause of death in young children. Babies become entangled in soft pillows or bedding in their cribs or buggies.

The gas stove offers several dangers; asphyxiation by gas from a leaky burner, burns from the flare of an oven filled with gas, or blast injuries from explosions. Keep the burners clean and the keys working rather stiffly. When you light an oven, the doors should be kept open and the match lighted and ready before the fuel is turned on.

Unfortunately, many accidents to young children must be blamed on the parent. The mother who leaves the handle of a pot on the kitchen stove protruding over the edge of the stove instead of toward the back of the range is careless, for children grasp such handles and upset boiling kettles on themselves, sometimes fatally.

EDUCATION in safety should be started early in life. Babies like to put objects in their mouths. Marbles and other small toys should therefore be kept away from very small children. The older child should be taught to put his toys away. A marble or a toy may be the cause of a severe fall, not only for the child, but for the adult.

Every parent should be constantly alert to improve the safety of the home. Carpeting should be checked regularly for tears, handrails should be a part of every stairway; brooms, mops and other handle equipment should be stored in closets and not left standing in corners. A child should not be left alone in a bathtub, even for a moment.

Handy Jim's FIXIN-UP TIPS

Clothes Hamper Constructed Of Lumber and Hardboard

IN MOST homes, a clothes hamper is a "must," while in some, two are needed. A clothes hamper is one of the easiest projects imaginable for the home workshop. The only materials needed are 1 by 2-inch lumber and one-eighth-inch Masonite tempered hardboard. Ordinary carpentry tools will do the job.

The hamper pictured is 30 inches high, 13¾ inches deep and 19¾ inches wide.

Construction of the framework is the first operation. The hardboard then is attached with nails, or screws may be applied through drilled holes. Hand grips may be cut out with a coping saw and the edges of the openings beveled lightly with a file. The hinged lid is formed of 1 by 2-inch lumber covered with a piece of hardboard. Attach a wooden or plastic handle.

To finish this attractive hamper, apply a good quality primer and follow with one or two finish coats. A decalcomania on the front will look nice.

For working drawings to follow in making the hamper, write to Home Service Bureau, Suite 2039, 111 West Washington Street, Chicago 2, Ill., and request free plan AE-178.

Forest River

Regarding the special election coming up soon for the bond issue for the Feehanville school, voters should acquaint themselves with the proper way to vote. There is only one way your vote can be counted; if you are against an idea, you must mark the square adjacent to the issue with an X; on the other hand if you are for the issue, you mark an X in the square adjacent to that opinion. The manner of how some people have misused their right to vote at so many regular as well as special elections is pathetic. Writing in of the words "yes" or "no" or making a check mark just makes it another spoiled ballot. So, voters, take a minute to think things out and only use the X to mark your ballot.

The Fire department and their wives held their regular fifth Thursday social last Thursday evening. This event is held three or four times a year, whenever the month has five Thursdays. The group had a gay time of dancing and refreshments.

The Ladies auxiliary will hold their annual installation party and meeting next Wednesday at 1:00 p. m. at the Club house. The party will begin with a pot luck lunch followed by the installation of officers, a short meeting and a few games. The 1951 officers were unanimously re-elected.

The attendance at the party held at the Club house by the Fire department last Saturday could have been a litle better. Sophie Koslowski was the lucky gal that night. These parties are held regularly the first Saturday of the month for the benefit of the Fire department. Every one is welcome and can depend on having a good time, so come one, come all to the Community house the first Saturday of March.

Joe Mammina was guest of honor at a birthday celebration in his honor at his home last Saturday.

Another neighbor who celebrates a birthday on ground hog day is Mrs. William Lucas. Josie entertained friends and relatives at her home at dinner on Saturday.

Gil Seilheimer received a watch from his wife for his birthday February 3.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Buttner and family have moved into the Max Ross home to help care for Mrs. Ross, whose health has not been too good for quite some time. The Buttners have three children, and we are sure that Verne would appreciate very much any help any one would like to give her at any time. The Ross home is located right next door east of the Community house on Hill st.

Word arrived from Ronald Miske that he is settled in Georgia and has found quarters there for Mary. Mary will be leaving shortly and maybe, if plans work out, Mrs. Miske might also make the trip down to see the youngsters get settled.

Mrs. John Toth has been on the sick list this last week with a bad cold.

Mrs. Max Lauer and Mrs. Ray Schmidt arrived home from their vacation in Glendale and Pasadena, Cal., last Saturday feeling quite chipper. Both gals look very good and seem to have had a good rest which both needed very much. Glad to see you back, girls.

Grandma Devinger entertained some of her neighbors at a finnan haddie luncheon last Tuesday afternoon. Grandma is still quite an active gal even though she is in her 80's and still does quite a bit of cooking and entertaining.

The Community club will hold their regular monthly meeting this Friday at the Club house at 8:00 p. m. This is expected to be quite an interesting meeting as the different chairmen who were assigned various duties at the last meeting will give their reports as to what progress they have made. A report on the street lights is to be one of them. In order to keep up with the needs of our village and also to help in bringing up the standards of our community, we need the co-operation of every resident, especially the owners.

So, men, make it your business to get to the meetings of your Community club.

Pine Gate Highlands

Association news

The first Community Association meeting of 1952 was highlighted by two of the most important improvements in any community.

Safety of life and limb from fire and traffic hazards.

Just as the fire in the Terry Fitzpatrick home December 30 stirred up action on "Fire Protection" an accident February 1, has stirred up the subject of stop light at Rand and State rds.

It is well known that there have been many accidents at this corner, but this one happened to a family in our community, Mr. and Mrs. Pius (Bill) Mayer and their two grandchildren, Valerie, 5, and Linda, 4. Bill came out O.K. but Alice Mayer required doctor's care, and Valerie lost 3 front teeth and was badly shaken up and bruised, as was Linda. The tragic part of it is, that Mr. Mayer had already crossed Rand rd., going north on State rd. and was hit only because another car at high speed turned onto State rd. to avoid a third car and struck the Mayer car.

All persons interested in supporting a petition for stop lights at this intersection, please contact Helen Rapp at Arlington Heights 2348.

Personal notes

The Ray Whittingtons just returned last Tuesday from Benton, Ill., where they attended the funeral of Ray's father, who passed away January 26.

Mrs. Edith Beneditti has been seriously ill with the flu, but has now recovered.

Set record

A record has probably been set in this community. Believe it or not, February 2, just 34 days since the Terry Fitzpatrick home burned to the ground, they moved back into their own house, thanks to a lot of good friends and neighbors. It is just in time too, because Betty expects to go to the hospital any day to increase the Fitzpatrick family.

The Dick Daleys are going to be reunited. Dick says he expects Pat and the two children and Pat's mother February 5 from Kansas City, where they have been since the first of the year.

Mrs. Eliza Thompson, mother of William Thompson, is visiting with relatives in Chicago for a few weeks.

Mrs. Edward Meinken is in the hospital where she had a baby girl. It just happened, and her mother, who is here from Chicago taking care of the three other little Meinkens, couldn't give all the details before going to press.

Newcomers are moving in without waiting for spring. Welcome to the A. C. Blagoues, C. G. Brandons, William Maienschiens and C. G. Schotts. More details on these families later.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rapp entertained Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Heidorn and Mr and Mrs Robert Koeppen Saturday

New power unit for Public Service company

A new 110,000 kilowatt turbo-generator has been placed in service at the Waukegan station of the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois, it was announced by Charles Y. Freeman, chairman of the utility.

The new generating unit, which took about three years to build, has been undergoing tests since December 15. Originally scheduled for service in the spring of 1952, it has gone on the lines several months ahead of schedule.

A major project in the Public Service-Commonwealth Edison system's postwar expansion program, the new Waukegan unit is the sixth new generating unit added to the system since the end of World War II. It brings to 3,062,000 kilowatts the capacity of the system's eleven generating stations serving Chicago and northern Illinois.

"Five additional units are now in various stages of construction," Freeman said. "These five, with a capacity of 660,000 kilowatts, will bring the total system capacity to 3,722,000 kilowatts by the end of 1954, based on present construction schedules."

Ra... first

The railroads have been the largest users of treated forest products, with telephone and telegraph companies and public utilities second.

Feehanville

Just finished helping Mrs. Kleeman with the dishes, in the lunch room at the school. If any mothers would like to know how the lunches are served and the reaction of the children. a couple of hours of helping down here will give a good picture.

The petitions which were being circulated to petition the school board to hold the election for the addition to the school were handed in Monday night with over 300 signatures. The final steps are being taken which are required before the notices of election can be published.

Because of illness there were some changes in the committee who worked on the petitions. They were Mrs. Harold Broberg, Mrs. Arthur Hanson, Idyl Nipper, Mrs. Jack Dobbratz, Kenneth Kranz, and Bill Witt. Mrs. Stanley Haverkampf and Mrs. Jack LeVine helped in finishing up.

The executive meeting of the PTA will be held Friday, February 8, 1:30 p. m. at the home of Mrs. John White, 506 N. Emerson st.

The regular meeting of the PTA will be held in the school house Friday night, February 15. Mr. Kibbe is to be the guest speaker. The entertainment committee has been working hard to provide speakers and entertainment for each meeting.

Lessons In .... English

Words Often Misused

Distinguish between credible (worthy of belief) and creditable (worthy of praise). "His story is credible, and his work is creditable."

Do not say, "We cannot express an opinion as to his idea." It is better to say, "an opinion about his idea."

Do not say, "The message was sent all over the world." Say "over all the world."

An intelligent person has a lower order of mentality than one who is intellectual. The former need not be a scholar but only quick-witted, but the latter can hardly achieve his rank without scholarly attainments.

Do not say, "I don't feel very good." Good is not an adverb. Say, "I don't feel very well."

The use of "patron" for "customer" or "client" is colloquial, and incorrect. Properly, the word means a person who protects or supports art or charity "He is a patron of the arts."

Words Often Mispronounced

Entree. Pronounce an-tra, first a as in ah, second a as in trav accent first syllable.

Surety. The preferred pronunciation is with two syllables, although it is correctly pronounced with three syllables, too.

Rodeo. Accent on first syllable is preferred.

Ogle. Pronounce the o as in no, not as in on.

Peculiar. Pronounce pe-kul-yer, not pe-kul-i-er.

Pseudonym (pen name). Pronounce su-do-nim, u as in cube, o as in no unstressed, i as in him, accent first syllable.

Census, cen; consensus, sen. Antedate, ante; antidote, anti. Acquiesce; observe the five vowels. Surprise; ise, not ize as in prize. Respectable, able; responsible, ible. Angel (a messenger of God); angle (a corner).

Word Study

"Use a word three times and it is yours." Let us increase our vocabulary by mastering one word each day. Words for this lesson:

Dearth: scarcity; lack. "He found that there was a dearth of good books in the man's home."

Probationary; pertaining to a trial or period of trial. "A probationary period will be required before we can adopt the plan."

Dispensation; a specific plan; a provision. "He was granted a dispensation by his minister."

Calumny; a false, malicious, and injurious accusation. "Envy very often incites calumny."

Comprehension; the mental grasping of ideas, facts, etc. "It requires comprehension to understand these things."

Diminutive (adjective); very small. "He is a diminutive person."

At Orchestra Hall

One of the season's special events will be presented by the Chicago symphony orchestra under Bruno Walter, guest conductor, at Orchestra Hall this week—a Verdi program of two famous choral works which will be having their first performances at these concerts.

Four distinguished operatic stars will be soloists together with 230 voices of the combined choral organizations of Northwestern University.

The Verdi works are the Convent scene from the opera, "La Forza del Destino," and the great Manzoni Requiem Mass.

Modern Etiquette

Q. What is proper behavior when our national anthem is played?

A. When the flag is not displayed, all present should stand and face the music. When the flag is displayed, all stand and face the flag. Those in uniform salute at the first note and retain this position until the last note. We all show the same respect to the anthems of our allies.

Q. How should one handle the spoon when partaking of soup, or anything similar?

A. The spoon, of course, should be held in the right hand, dipped into the soup with an outward sweep, then taken from the side of the spoon, never from the tip.

Q. Is the bride obligated to give gifts to her attendants?

A. This is not so much a question of "obligation." It is a long-standing custom, and therefore accepted as good form.

Q. When a woman is preparing to leave home within a few minutes, and a caller arrives unexpectedly, what should the woman do?

A. She most certainly is privileged to explain frankly that she has an appointment to keep at a certain time. But she should exchange a few pleasantries with her caller and not appear to be rushing her away.

Q. Is it proper for the bridegroom to help address the wedding invitations and announcements? I've heard it is considered "bad luck."

A. If he wishes to help it is quite all right—and there most certainly is nothing of "bad luck" attached to it

Q. When passing a cream pitcher, or any other such article that has a handle, should the handle always be turned to the one who is receiving it?

A. Yes, always.

Q. Where does one write the date on a social letter?

A. Usually at the upper right-hand side of the first page, or at the end, and to the far left of the signature, of a note. It is far less confusing for one's correspondent to read March 10, 1952, than 3-10-52.

Q. What is the proper amount that a bridegroom should give the minister as a fee?

A. There is no stipulated amount. It may be $10, $20, $25, and $100 or more when the bridegroom is wealthy. It really depends upon the bridegroom's finances.

Q. Should the dessert spoon or fork be placed on the table at the beginning of a meal?

A. No; they should be brought in with the dessert course.

TAX FACTS

By George S. Mahin, Executive Secretary Taxpayers' Federation of Illinois

Ever since the federal government entered the electric power business, public ownership advocates have insisted that development of electricity at a federal project was incidental to the major purpose—such as irrigation, navigation, reclamation, or flood control.

Now congress has before it a clear-cut question—whether taxpayers' money or investors' capital should be used to develop an out-and-out electric power project on the Niagara River.

The government hasn't the excuse in this case that private industry is unwilling to undertake the project. Five New York state electric companies are ready, willing and able payers—provided they receive authorization from congress.

If congress passes the Lehman-Roosevelt bill for federal government construction of this power project from public funds, it will mean a cost to the taxpayers, including Illinois taxpayers, of somewhere in excess of $350,000,000.

The state of New York is opposed to the federal bill. The state wants to undertake the project itself, and the Ives-Cole bill in congress provides for New York state construction and ownership of the power project. This would still be public ownership, but under the state rather than the federal government.

The Capehart-Miller bill proposes the development by private enterprise, without cost to federal or state taxpayers. Under this bill, the power would be distributed at regulated rates under a cost-of-service basis. It would produce tax revenue for the federal government, and for the state and local governments in New York.

The Hoover commission's task force report on water resources projects stated that a definite federal power policy is needed "in which the government cooperates with its citizens . . . instead of competing with them for markets."

But, as pointed out by the council of state chambers of commerce in a bulletin of April 18, 1951, "the planners in the Interior Department and other Government agencies appear determined to pursue a diametrically opposite course. Their blueprints call for 60,000 miles of Government-owned transmission lines of 60,000 volts and over. They call for many new steam plants, built at taxpayers' expense, to 'firm up' Federal hydroelectric power projects. They call for dividing the country up into nine regional power authorities to form a nationwide federal power monopoly."

The issue here is clear-cut. It has nothing to do with the proposed St. Lawrence seaway, or any other irrigation, navigation, reclamation or flood control issue. It boils down to the pure and simple question, is the power industry to be socialized in the United States of America?

If there is any doubt in your own mind how you stand on the answer to this question, you should read "The Key to Peace" by Clarence Manion, dean of the college of law of Notre Dame university, an inspired and inspiring answer to those seeking an answer to our problems and world problems through Americanism.

Shellac Sticks

The remarkable affinty of shellac to wood has puzzled many. The solution may be in the fact that shellac is the resinous secretion of the "Lac" bug which feeds on certain trees in India and Burma. Thus there is a natural tie between shellac and wood. Science never has been able to duplicate shellac synthetically.

David and Goliaths?

Heights at LaGrange Friday, then at Barrington Saturday

by BOB PADDOCK

A possible David and Goliath opportunity of modern times presents itself this week end to the Arlington Heights basketball squad when Coach Ray DeGreeff's boys meet LaGrange, leaders of the West Suburban league Friday night, then "taper off" Saturday night against Barrington, leader of the Northwest conference.

Ever since abandonment of the Northeast conference Arlington Heights, under direction of athletic director Wally Grace, has been meeting tougher schedules. This has been good for the athletic teams of the ever-growing school, giving players opportunity for tougher competition and enabling more boys to compete in more sports.

With entry in the West Suburban league in spring sports in 1951, the Heights slate was toughened considerably.

THIS WEEK END will provide a climax with the toughest two-nights-in-a-row stretch for any Heights team. LaGrange, with a 9-1 record in league play, plus non-league victories, has been rolling along at a 63 points per game pace while holding the opposition to 40.

This compares to Arlington's 40 point offensive average in league games against 45 for opponents. Previous meeting between the two schools resulted in a 72-36 LaGrange margin January 4. By winning Arlington could move up in the topsy-turvy West Suburban race (except for first place, that is).

Odds are against Arlington doing it, however, and fans are hopeful the Cardinals can at least hold down the margin.

SATURDAY NIGHT is a different matter, though how much different no one knows. Barrington has taken its fourth Northwest league title in a row while running at a 61 points per game clip, and holding the opposition to 38. Latest non-league victim for Barrington's varsity is Tilden of Chicago, which bowed just as Northwest league foes have been doing.

While most of the squads losing to the Bronchoes haven't been up to the caliber of Arlington, several of the teams have been equal or better than Coach Ray DeGreeff's five. Optimistic Heights fans are pulling for a local win Saturday at Barrington, but the odds are against it.

Games still have to be won on the court and not in the newspapers. Biggest obstacle for Coach Harman's Bronchos will be Jay Vawter. Whether Arlington's good team play can be stopped by covering Jay remains to be seen.

IN OTHER West Suburban league play Friday night Hinsdale travels to Downers Grove, Maine is at Riverside and York appears at Glenbard. Any of these contests could easily go either way with just 3½ games separating last place Glenbard from second place Downers.

Palatine aims for first division

Bisons hope to continue winning ways against Ela

by G. A. McELROY

A spot in the first division is at stake for Palatine Friday as they get set to take on Wauconda and Bob Nolan on the home court. Palatine, deep in the second division a month ago, has moved steadily up the conference ladder to their present tie with Ela and Wauconda for third place. A 40-39 victory over second place Grant was one of the crucial victories in Palatine's climb.

The Pirates, coached by "Gene" Moylan, can be assured of no worse than fourth place and might grab third if they can stop Bob Nolan Friday, regardless of the outcome of next week's final of the league season at Barrington.

STOPPING Nolan is something no team in the conference has managed this season. Antioch used two big boys on him and held his point total to 19. Bensenville had two men on him last week and held him to four field goals but they fouled him so much he sank 15 of 17 free throws. Anyway, Bensenville won the game.

Palatine lost by one point at Wauconda early in the season. On that occasion the tallest Pirates fouled out trying to stop Nolan. If Palatine can keep their big boys in the game and hold Nolan under 20 points the local team should be the winner. This game should attract a good crowd for Wauconda has very strong teams in both divisions.

BENSENVILLE, revived by last week's victory, will be looking for another at Ela Friday where the Bears are crippled by the graduation of their regular forwards, Helzer and Taggart. If both Palatine and Bensenville win the Pirates would be in third place all alone, the spot they were predicted to win before the season opened.

Barrington's high scoring and smooth working quintet will have a breather at Northbrook Friday but will remember last year's upset defeat by 64-62 on that same court. This year the Northbrook Vikings have dropped to a hopeless last from a championship contender and will be no match at all for the potent Bronchos. Coach Harman will have a good opportunity to give his subs experience for the coming tournaments.

ANTIOCH and Grant, neighboring sports rivals, will clash at Fox Lake. Antioch has enough size to keep the score at respectable proportions with most anyone but they do not have the class to win many games. Art Smejkal and John Stob, the Grant scoring leaders, will add plenty to their point totals and it should be a fairly easy victory for the Grant Bulldogs.

Warren Lattof, Arlington Hts. number one hurdler, was nosed out by Harrison Dillard in the Boston A. A. games Saturday night, the 45 yard high hurdles being run in :05.7. Dillard edged both Pete McCreary and Lattof in the race. Lattof carried the colors of MIT.

Grant now of age; tops Dundee

Grant high of Fox Lake can really figure they have arrived in basketball after many years at the end of the Northwest conference standings. Saturday night Grant beat Dundee, 61-60, in an overtime game which had so many thrills and tense moments that when it was over a number of fans let their pent up emotions get the best of them with several fist fights the result.

Grant led 22 to 13 the first quarter and was on top most of the game. John Stob hit six field goals in eight shots in the opening period. Near the finish Dundee went ahead by one point but a free throw tied the count at 54—all. In the overtime with six seconds to play, K. Lange made two free throws to give Dundee a 60-59 lead but a long pass to Art Smejkal and an accurate shot from the corner of the court gave Grant a 61-60 lead. Dundee came down and J. Lange let fly a long one from midcourt which swished through the net but the game was ended before the ball left his hands.

John Stob made 12 field goals for 24 points and Art Smejkal had seven and seven for 21. Allen of Dundee scored 25 points.

Dundee routed Grant's frosh-sophs, 73-43.

CHANGE DATE OF GAME

Date of the aproaching Arlington at Glenbard cage game in two weeks has been changed to Thursday, February 21, instead of the originally planned Friday, February 22.

Heights athletic director Wally Grace said the change, caused by the no school edict at Glenbard February 22, was agreed to in light of good sportsmanship and in memory of Glenbard's agreement to change the time of a league grid contest at Heights last fall.

Conditioning pays off as Barrington whips Tilden and McKinley

Barrington's undefeated conference champions in both divisions repelled the invading Chicago Tilden senior team, 69-48, and the McKinley juniors, 40-30, in games Saturday night. Both Chicago teams were among the better quintets in their respective divisions of the city league.

Barrington's better conditioned team ran away with the visiting Tilden outfit in the last quarter, scoring 23 points to eight for the Chicago team. Fred Cochran, junior guard, tallied 27 points to lead Barrington to their 16th victory in 18 starts.

Superior height gave Barrington's frosh-sophs the edge in their victory over the small but fast colored McKinley junior five.

O'Connell to joln Berschet, Rascher at sports night

Tom O'Connell, star quarterback and offensive leader on the University of Illinois Big Ten and Rose Bowl football championship team, has accepted an invitation to appear in Arlington Heights for "Sports Night" February 21 when the Rose Bowl movies will be shown.

The Arlington Heights Kiwanis club, sponsors of this night for all sports fans, announced the Illini star will join Marv Berschet, star defensive tackle, and Verne Rascher, Illinois' golf captain, both of Arlington Heights, who were announced last week as special guests. The event will be held at Arlington Heights high school auditorium at 8:30 p. m. February 21.

Chairman Herb Carl announced that Don Hartman and Dr. Leland Linn, committee members, are already hard at work to make this a sports event that will be remembered in Arlington Heights. Tickets will go on sale locally February 8 and may be purchased from any Kiwanian.

The Kiwanis club is inviting several well known sports personalities to attend. There will be no formal speeches. Instead, the athletes will be interviewed informally by a very popular sports figure who will act as master of ceremonies and will be announced in next week's paper. This event is open to the public.

Same seedings as last year; Bisons to meet York

The pairings for the state regional tournaments were announced by the Illinois High School Association Tuesday. Most of the local teams are playing in the Barrington regional where the host school is again this year the top heavy favorite to win the trophy and advance to sectional play.

At Barrington both Arlington Heights and Palatine appear to have a break in the pairings in that they are in the bracket opposite Barrington and meet below average competition in first round encounters. In the lower bracket Arlington meets Grayslake and Palatine plays Northbrook. In the opposite bracket Barrington tackles Wauconda and Ela-Vernon is paired with Libertyville.

It has turned out that the teams are seeded just the same as last year when Barrington beat Libertyville in the semi-finals and Palatine upset Arlington Heights. Last year Arlington started out with Grayslake as their opponent and Ela-Libertyville will also be the same pairing as a year ago. Palatine has whipped Northbrook 75-44 and 75-30 and ought to meet Arlington again this year in semi-final play.

AT ELGIN the host school is the top seeded quintet with Crystal Lake second and Dundee third. Actually the probable district winner, Hebron, is the top team but teams promoted from a lower tournament are seeded fifth.

The pairings call for Elgin to play Grant and Dundee to meet Antioch in the upper bracket with Crystal Lake versus McHenry and Woodstock opposing the district winner (Hebron) in the lower section. That should bring Elgin versus Hebron in the finals barring upsets which so often appear in tournament competition.

AT GLENBARD Bensenville is paired with York High of Elmhurst and Oak Park plays Maine Twp. in the upper bracket. The lower bracket is made up of Glenbard vs. Proviso and Leyden vs. the district winner. Leyden might be a finalist out of this set-up as their bracket appears to be much weaker than the one containing Oak Park and York.

At Waukegan it is New Trier vs. Lake Forest and Highland Park vs. Zion in one bracket and Waukegan vs. Niles and Evanston vs. Warren of Gurnee in the other. The upper bracket is really loaded with Highland Park rated third a week end victor over powerful Oak Park, New Trier rated first, and Lake Forest a very strong club to be rated fifth.

At LaGrange where the host school and Morton of Cicero are head and shoulders above the field we find Morton vs Hinsdale and Riverside vs. Morgan Park Military academy in the upper bracket and LaGrange vs. Downers Grove and Argo vs. Reavis in the lower pairings. Morton leads the Suburban League undefeated. LaGrange is top team in the West Suburban circuit.

MAC SAYS

BY G. A. McELROY

Grant of Fox Lake is back on the beam again after a slump which threatened to cost the Bulldogs second place in the Northwest standings. Friday's one-sided 81-45 victory over contending Ela-Vernon and the surprising 61-60 conquest of Dundee Saturday indicates that Coach Berberich's quintet will finish with a 10-4 record well ahead in second place. They seem like a cinch to wallop Antioch and gain revenge on Bob Nolan and his Wauconda pals for the one point setback which was the start of Grant's after-Christmas decline. Along with Barrington's 69-48 win over Tilden Tech of Chicago the Northwest conference gained greatly in cage prestige over the week end.

If Pirates win Friday they will finish no lower than fourth place

Palatine, to whom a first division berth seemed a very remote possibility a month ago, will be playing to stay in third place where this week they find themselves tied with Wauconda and Ela-Vernon. To stay in the first four the Pirates must stop Bob Nolan and whip Wauconda Friday night, for the following week at Barrington the odds will be all against them.

After a sluggish start Palatine played some great ball Friday night against weak Northbrook. The fast breaking offense with clever passing off under the basket by "Tinker" Meyer to Paul Schrage reminded us of the pass work and pressing defense of Chuck Snyder, Ray Hahnfeldt, and Bob Hollinger of the early forties. Those boys never hit the basket at the 52.4% clip of the Pirates Friday night however. In the third quarter Palatine hit 10 of 11 from the field with Schrage getting all five of his attempts. We would enjoy seeing some of that kind of shooting at Barrington February 15.

They say that the best high school player in the Chicago area is Bob George of Highland Park. George, a six-foot-five center, is top scorer of the Suburban league and from a cellar contender made his team strong enough to dump powerful Oak Park last Friday night. College scouts think he is the prize senior in this area and they ought to know.

Changes in district track rules aid suburban athletes

Good news to track coaches is the change in state and district meet track rules which permits boys to qualify in any of the events on the basis of time or marks made as well as by winning a first or second in the district meet. This year even the sprints and hurdles will have to be timed to see how many qualify to go to the state. It is a break for the Chicago suburban district meets where on a time basis many more than first and second will be good enough to go to the state meet.

Also, this year if a boy runs in the 400 or the 880 in the district he may compete in a second event as well as long as it is not another distance run. Formerly boys running in the 440, 880, and mile were restricted to one event.

Arlington and Hebron should draw big crowds to Barrington gym

They say it is already a sell-out for Barrington's game with Hebron Tuesday, Feb. 19, and no wonder. Coach Harman has a very fine ball club boasting 16 wins in 18 starts and Hebron, rated number one team in the state, has lost only once this year. This is the game that everyone around here will want to see if they can get a ticket.

Saturday's game between Barrington and Arlington Heights at

Lutheran teams in doubleheader

A special basketball doubleheader featuring Immanuel Lutheran boys and girls teams in the Palatine high school gym has been planned for Saturday night, February 16.

The boys will oppose Norwood Park at 7:30 with the girls meeting Refiners Pride girls' team of Oak Park in the second game of the evening.

The girls' team, winners of the zone championship last season, is undefeated this year with eight victories already to its credit. The girls have one game left, with Des Plaines, February 10, at Park Ridge. The latter squad has dropped just one decision this season and a Palatine loss would necessitate a playoff between the two teams for the district tournament the early part of March.

Playing for the girls at forward are Mary Ann Brumm, Jayne Schroeder, Elaine Schlow and Carol Leimer. At center are Betty Brumm and Vernette Schinkowsky. At guard are Adeline Ladendorf, Marlene Wessel and Vernette Schwolow.

Jay Vawter leads West Suburban in field goals

George Wolz, held to ten points against Arlington, maintains lead over Lyons in scoring race

Arlington's own Jay Vawter took the lead in field goals for the West Suburban conference Friday night when he dropped in seven against Riverside while helping hold George Wolz, the loop's leading scorer, to just four from the field.

Jay has now swished the nets for 69 buckets to 67 for Dick Steiner of Maine and 66 for Wolz. The latter, however, has racked up 30 more free throws for a two point scoring margin over Bob Lyons of Downers Grove. Downers and Maine have played one more game than the rest of the conference.

Wolz, though held to ten scores against Heights, is still leading the individual pace with a 184 total. George made amends Saturday night in his team's 17 point loss at Hebron by sinking 27 points.

WALLY KIRK of York notched six baskets and four free throws to gain slightly on Wolz. Next week, February 15, the two boys will oppose each other.

Art Zitzka of Hinsdale heads the second bracket of scorers with 142 points, just ahead of a trio of boys from LaGrange, attesting to why the Lyons township school is leading the loop, 9-1.

Joe McRae has dropped in 52 baskets and 30 charities for 134 points. Ted Caiazza has accounted for 50 and 15 for a 116 total, while Byron Bennett has 42 and 29 to his credit for 113 points. Bob Peterson of Maine rounds out the second bracket.

LOCALLY, Bob Chamberlain and John Eakins are next in line for Heights with 60 and 59 points, while Hans Schmidt and Ron Grace have 39 and 33.

Ninety-eight boys have accounted for all the scoring in the league thus far. These include 39 juniors and two sophomores, the latter, Wally Strauch, of York, with 74 points and Ted Caiazza of LaGrange with 116 scores.

That Glenbard, with just 3 points of 450 scored by Don Duffey against LaGrange Friday, is using all seniors is borne out by the complete scoring record maintained for the league by Paddock Publications.

MAINE, York and LaGrange are well fortified with juniors in scoring. The Elmhurst school has the highest percentage of points by the third year boys, accounting for 316 of 460. Maine's underclassmen, eight of them, have accounted for 304 scores of 492, led by Dick Steiner's 155.

At LaGrange the two McRaes, Joe with 134 and Leon with 57, are among the five underclassmen scoring. The boys are not twins, by the way.

Complete statistics reveal number of senior boys scoring as against number of underclassmen.

Brown, Hartnett, Wilson head picks for all-time Cub team

Six of '29 team rate on squad listed this week

The first official all-time all-star Chicago Cub team has been selected by a committee of Chicago baseball writers with the "modern day" player getting all the best of the famous 19th century ancients.

The team was selected for publication in the 1952 Chicago Cub year-book, now on sale by mail at Wrigley Field, by veteran writers from the Chicago chapter of the baseball writers association of America.

Three players were unanimous choices. They were pitcher Mordecai Brown, catcher Gabby Hartnett and Hack Wilson. Only two missed the same distinction by one vote. They were Jim Vaughn, greatest lefthander in Cub history, and Charlie Grimm, who beat out Frank Chance, the peerless leader, handily.

SIX OF THE all-time all stars chosen were members of the 1929 National League champions, termed one of the best teams of the modern era. It won the flag handily and batted .303 for the season. The '29 stars named for the all-time club are Grimm, at first base; Wilson, Kiki Cuyler and Riggs Stephenson, outfield; Charlie Root, pitcher, and Hartnett, catcher.

Four pitchers were chosen for the all-star team, right hander Lon Warneke joining Brown, Vaughn, and Root on the honor roll. Brown, the unanimous choice, won 195 games and lost only 96 for the Cubs from 1903 through 1912. In 1908 he won 29 games and pitched the turbulent playoff which gave the Cubs the pennant over the Giants and Christy Matthewson.

VAUGHN was with the Cubs for nine years, pitching a memorable game against the Cincinnati Reds' Fred Toney May 2, 1917. For nine innings, Vaughn and Toney pitched no-hit, no-run ball, but in the 10th, Vaughn yielded two hits, one of them a scratch hit in front of the plate, by Jim Thorpe, scored the winning run.

Through 16 years, Root—now pitching coach for the 1952 Cubs—helped the Cubs win four pennants, winning over 200 ball games. Warneke served on four pennant winners and during one five-year stretch won 98 and lost 55 games.

Gabby Hartnett, of course, was one of the game's greatest catchers. He virtually won the pennant for the Cubs with an after-dark home run at Wrigley Field in 1938. He was with the Cubs for 19 years.

THE CHOICE of Grimm, Billy Herman, Stan Hack and Bill Jurges comprises an infield second to none in National League history. Because of his nimble fielding and consistent hitting, Grimm was selected over Frank Chance by six of the seven members of the committee, including those who saw both play. Grimm also managed the Cubs to three pennants. Phil Cavarretta, manager of the 1952 Cubs, was accorded honorable mention behind Grimm and Chance.

Herman was a popular choice over both Johnny Evers and Rogers Hornsby. Bill was considered a better defensive player than Evers and there was no disputing his offensive superiority. Hornsby was the game's greatest right handed hitter, but fewer than four of his 22 years in the majors were spent with the Cubs, and therefore, the committee did not name Hornsby to the all-stars.

THE COMMITTEE considered Jurges better than the famed Joe Tinker, and therefore, gave the nod to him. Jurges, wrote John Hoffman of the Sun-Times in his article for the Yearbook, was an amazing fielder and in all the annals of the game, it is doubtful if there ever was one who played his position with more ease and skill than the Cub artist.

At third base, Heinie Zimmerman was perhaps a more spectacular player than Stanley Hack, but the latter drew five out of seven votes from the committee. Zimmerman spent 10 years with the Cubs and batted .300 or better three times. Hack, however, gave 16 years to the Cubs and was close to or over .300 as a hitter nine times.

HACK WILSON'S place among the best of Cub outfielders will go unchallenged. The pudgy little outfielder was a fabulous character as well as a truly great hitter and his 56 homers and 190 runs batted in during the 1930 season still remains on the record books.

Kiki Cuyler served on two Cub pennant winners. In 1929, he batted .360. Cuyler was a fearsome hitter, a sure fielder and great base-runner. One of the most dangerous hitters in Cub history was Riggs Stephenson. In nine years with the Cubs, Stevie compiled an amazing batting average. In eight of these years he hit .319 or better and in 1929 crashed out a .362 mark, and bounced back in '30 with .367.

Also included in the book, available by writing concession manager, Wrigley Field, Chicago 13, and enclosing 50c for each book wanted, are stories, photographs and autographs of all the 1952 Cubs, all-time records, 1951 records, and other interesting material.

Arlington frosh and JVs split with Maine

Arlington's lesser basketball squads, the junior-varsity and frosh, gained an even split against Maine Saturday morning. The first year men won, 39-23, while the varsity reserves lost, 36-30. For both squads it was repeat outcomes of former contests.

For the Heights frosh it was a case of taking the lead the second quarter, stretching it through the third period, then relaxing the final stanza as both sides cleared the bench. Brumm was high scorer for Coach Bill Beckman's squad with six baskets and four free throws.

Coach Ken Olson's five tallied nine times from the court for a 10-8 first period lead, only to be on the short end at intermission, 20-12. Nelson led the losers with ten points.

The JVs, led by Arlington's Whitelaw and Bowersox with 11 points apiece, suffered a 10-4 deficit the second period, and could never recover. Gallup was tops for Maine with 14 scores.

Air station cagers to play in tournament

The naval air station, Glenview, basketball team has been selected to play in the post season all service tournament, composed of teams from all services in the midwest, starting March 4 at Great Lakes naval training station.

Sparked by forward Stan Surdy, formerly of Whiting, Indiana high school, with a season average of 21 points per game and the 13 points a game record of Flyer team captain Ed McCluskey, former varsity hoopster for Iowa U., the Glenview five hopes, with the addition of Bill Levitus, Loyola and Senn high school star, to make good showing in the tournament.

Glenbard snowed under by LaGrange

Glenbard's varsity kept up their steady descent to the bottom of the WSC heap Friday night when the Lions walloped the Bards, 74-26, to near the conference title again this year.

LaGrange was topped by Joe McRae who pushed through 16 points to lead the LT rout. By Bennet had 10 to take runner-up honors while Rennie Walker with seven took high point honors for the Hilltoppers.

LaGrange started right off the bat to score points. They racked up 19 in the opener, slowed down to 14 in the second round and hit for 20 and 21 in the last two frames. The Bards had three rounds of sevens and hit a low of five in the second quarter.

AFTER PLAYING a close first half contest, Glenbard's Ponies sumbled through a rough second half as the LaGrange Cubs poured through 36 points to rout the visiting Hilltoppers Friday night, 62-31. The loss tumbled the down-trodden Ponies even further down the conference ladder while the Bards didn't even threaten to stop LaGrange's current winning streak.

Tom Peters led Glenbard's squad as he pumped through 14 markers in the first half. He was stopped cold in the second half mostly because he was never able to get his hands on the ball.

Kennedy captured high scoring honors for the game as he collected 20 points while his Cub teammate, DeSantis, hit for 13 markers.

Palatine moves into third place tie after Northbrook victory

by GERRY McELROY

The Palatine Pirates moved into a three way tie for third place in the Northwest conference standings Friday night, as they snowed under the hapless Northbrook Vikings, 75 to 30. The Palatine frosh-sophs won their third game of the season as they downed the Northbrook frosh-soph, 48 to 22.

Led by all-conference Art Landwehr, the Vikings surprised the Pirates with a 13 to 12 lead at the end of the first quarter, but in the second period the tide changed as Northbrook scored only two points compared to Palatine's twelve. Paul Schrage led the scoring in the second quarter with three baskets to bring his half time total to ten points.

IN THE THIRD quarter Palatine continued their torrid scoring pace as they outscored the Vikings 25 to 7, while Schrage racked up 14 points, most of them on layups as the Pirates employed their deadly fast break.

Don Buenzow led the Pirate attack in the final quarter, as he scored 11 of Palatine's 26 points. High scorer for Palatine was Paul Schrage with 12 field goals and 5 free throws for a total of 29 points. Don Buenzow tallied 19, while Landwehr was high for Northbrook with 15 points. The Pirates had their best shooting percentage of the year with 52.4 from the field.

THE PALATINE frosh-sophs' bounced to an early 15 to 6, first quarter lead, over Northbrook and went on to win, 48 to 22, as Roger Kolze, Palatine guard, led the scoring attack with 18 points on eight baskets and two free throws. The Vikings never threatened except in the second quarter when they scored nine points to Palatine's eleven. High scorers for Palatine were Kolze with 18, McElroy with 11, and Hapke with 7. Top man for Northbrook was Lay with 10 points.

The Pirates' next game is at Palatine Friday night against Wauconda. Next week they travel to Barrington for the final game of the Northwest conference schedule.

Blackhawks win pair, then lose to St. Peter's

Eddie Kostka scored 13 points to lead the Wheeling Blackhawks to a 39 to 31 victory over R & B's in a North Shore league contest last Thursday evening in the Winnetka Community House gym. Art Horcher was runner-up for the Hawks with 10 points. Marini was high scorer for R & B's with 12 points. It was the Hawks' fifth league win in 10 starts.

The following evening the Blackhawks returned to the Wheeling gym to claw a 69 to 63 overtime win over Aptakisic. Wheeling led at the intermission, 30 to 26. However, Aptakisic regained the lead at the end of the third quarter, 45-43. With only seven seconds to go, Eddie Kostka fouled Dan Taggert, and the Aptakisic center dropped it through cleanly for the tying point.

THE HAWKS scored 9 points to their opponents' 3 in the 5 minute overtime period, to give them their sixth straight home victory. Eddie Kostka and Chuck Fischer paced the Hawks with 22 and 14 points, respectively. Taggert paced the visitors with 23 points.

Last Sunday St. Peters of Northbrook made it two in a row over the Wheeling five. However, their latest conquest was a far cry from the lopsided 45 to 24 victory they had scored earlier in the year.

St. Peters had to go all out to down the Blackhawks, and were only assured of victory when Burmiester broke a 50-50 deadlock with a penalty shot. He waved the other shot with only five seconds left in the game and St. Peters held the ball for the remaining time to gain a 51 to 50 win. It was the Hawks' first defeat in the Wheeling gym in seven starts.

Barnes and Roy Hacker led St. Peters with 18 and 15 points respectively, while Wheeling was paced by Eddie Kostka, who tallied 15 points. Former Arlington high ace, Jack Clark, was runner-up for the Hawks with 13 points.

Bensenville drubs Wauconda twice

Bensenville's Bisons won a doubleheader at Wauconda Friday night taking the varsity game, 51-46, and the frosh-soph encounter, 44-36. Bensenville put two men on big Bob Nolan and held him to four field goals. However, he hit 15 out of 17 free throws and got 23 points. Nolan's teammates were not hitting the basket while the Bisons were having one of their better games, both from the field and the free throw line.

Bensenville won the game in the third quarter when they held Wauconda to three free throws while making 10 points to go into a 36-31 lead which proved to be the margin of victory. Symkowicz scored 16 points and Lowell Palm got 14 for Bensenville. It was Bensenville's third league victory in 11 games.

In the frosh-soph game Bensenville led all the way, but never by the winning margin until the final frame. High man for the DuPage county five was Heuer with five buckets and seven charities. Punches led the losers with six baskets.

To meet Carter

Chicago's own Luther Rawlings gets biggest test of career when he meets lightweight champion Jimmy Carter in the Chicago Stadium February 20. Rawlings has defeated most of the top lightweights and is ranked No. 1 among the contenders. If he makes a good showing, he is promised a chance to fight for the title.

The 22 year old alumnus of DuSable high school is Chicago's highest ranking fighter. It will be Carter's first invasion of Chicago since he won the championship from Ike Williams last spring.

Card wrestlers lose twice to Hinsdale squad

Arlington Heights wrestlers dropped a double match at Hinsdale Saturday night before a good turnout of fans, the varsity being overwhelmed, 35-3, and the frosh-sophs bowing, 18-16. Several of the usual varsity boys for Heights competed with the frosh-sophs against Hinsdale, giving the latter squad additional power.

Only points for Coach George Torhan in the varsity division were won by the usual Leckband who decisioned Carl of Hinsdale, 7-4. Closest match otherwise was Worley's loss, 7-5, to Len of Hinsdale.

Arlington stops Wolz to top Riverside 52-50

"Mission accomplished"—thus reads the stamp on the report of the Arlington Heights - Riverside game Friday night when the local Cardinals hung on to part of an eight-point lead for a 52-50 victory. The frosh-sophs lost, however, 56-43.

Coach Ray DeGreeff outlined a plan of attack against Riverside—stop Wolz. It paid off, particularly in the first half when the league's number one scorer was held to exactly three points. George scored seven more the second half for his lowest mark of the season.

LUCKILY, for Riverside, Beaudoin, averaging eight points a game, dropped in seven buckets and one free throw, and Bayag, with 33 scores in nine previous league games, came through with 15.

The two combined the second half to cut the Heights eight point halftime lead to a tie with two minutes to go. Bob Chamberlain broke the tie with a free throw, with Fredricks' charity cinching the contest.

A last second field goal attempt on the part of Riverside was no good and Heights won.

ONCE AGAN it was team play that paid off locally. Jay Vawter made his usual 18 points while on the receiving end of teammates' passes, while Chamberlain added 14 scores, Eakins nine and Schmidt eight.

Vawter scored from the court three times the second period, three times the third, and once the fourth. Free throw percentage was good for Heights with 16 of 26 counting when needed. Riverside led in field goals, 21-18.

THE FROSH-SOPH encounter went the wrong way for Arlington fans. After a close first half, a 19-8 third period Riverside margin torpedoed Coach Maurice Klotz' hopes for victory. Intermission tally was 25-21, Riverside, after Arlington had led in the first frame, 12-11.

Turner was high man for the youngsters with eight baskets and two free throws for 18 points. For Riverside it was Rogeness with 16 total. Turner's big quarter was the fourth when he swished the net four times, though only other help at the scoring line that period was Wayne Mueller's bucket.

Mac Says —

Barrington should attract a good crowd. The same two teams are doped to meet in the regional finals and this will be a preview of what to expect at tournament time. Barrington's handicap is lack of a real tall center. Arlington has this in six-foot-seven inch Jay Vawter, and Hebron, coming a week later, has a six-foot-ten center.

Almost History

In the golden age of whaling, between 1833 and 1863, America had as many as 675 ships on the seas seeking the great ocean mammal. Today the U.S. flag is not represented in Antarctic whaling fleets, and the only American whalers are two small killer boats which operate from a shore [illegible] in California.

About your income tax

by JOHN T. JARECKI

Deductions

The matter of deductions is of great importance in filing individual income tax returns. The taxpayer is interested in claiming as many deductions as possible since they result in a tax reduction to him.

Of interest to the average taxpayer are the non-business or page 3 deductions, which include such items as contributions, interest, taxes, casualty losses, medical and dental expenses and miscellaneous expenses.

When the sum total of these items is in excess of 10% of the adjusted gross income, then the taxpayer will elect to itemize in preference to the optional standard deduction in computing the tax liability.

When the adjusted gross income is less than $5,000, the standard deduction is about 10% of that income amount, and is reflected in the simplified tax table on page 4 of Form 1040.

When the adjusted gross income is $5,000 and over, the standard deduction is exactly 10% of the income amount or $1,000, whichever is less. This applies to single persons or married taxpayers filing jointly. For married people filing separate returns, the maximum deduction is $500.

Tapayers are urged to compare the actual deductions with the optional standard deduction and use the larger. More simply, figure the tax both ways and elect the method that results in a lower tax.

Husbands and wives filing separate returns must use the same method of tax computation. If one spouse chooses to itemize actual personal deductions, the other spouse is bound by that election and must also itemize.

Itemizing deductions:

The amounts of money paid to an organization incorporated for charitable, religious, scientific, literary, educational or governmental purposes are deductible, provided it is incorporated within the United States or any of its possessions or under their laws. Contributions must be made to an organization which does not distribute its earnings to a specified individual or individuals only, or that is not merely a political organization disseminating propaganda or lobbying for or against local or national legislation.

A contribution must actually be paid and not merely pledged for those who are on the cash receipts and disbursements basis, and also those who are on the accrual basis.

The amount of allowable contributions may not exceed 15% of the adjusted gross income on line 4, page 1 of the white form 1040, and may be claimed only when itemized deductions are indicated.

Interest expense

All interest, whether paid on a business or personal loan is deductible, except when paid on money borrowed to buy nontaxable securities like certain bonds issued by a state, county, city or other political subdivision, on certain U. S. Government obligations, or on an indebtedness incurred to purchase a single premium life insurance or endowment contract.

You may deduct interest on an obligation which you have assumed but you may not deduct the interest you pay on a loan or mortgage of another person.

Interest must be paid during the taxable year to be deductible.

The money paid on merchandise purchased "on time" is not all classified as interest. That portion above the legal amount chargeable as interest is called a "carrying charge" or service charge: it does not represent interest and is not deductible as expense. In order to determine the exact amount of actual interest you should refer to the card or book you receive on which your payments are registered by the company from whom you made the purchase. Usually the interest and "carrying charge" are listed in separate columns.

It is easy to pay income taxes at home

Northwest suburban residents are finding income taxes are a little cheaper this year—taxpayers don't have to spend three cents for a stamp to mail in their returns.

The Internal Revenue Bureau has established a cashier's office in the basement of the Des Plaines post office.

"The establishment of this cashier's office in Des Plaines is a part of the Internal Revenue Bureau's policy to make it more convenient for taxpayers to pay their taxes," said John T. Jarecki, collector of internal revenue.

The office, located in the basement of the Des Plaines post office, makes it possible to pay in person, income taxes, social security and withholding taxes, retail excise taxes and all other federal taxes.

All the necessary forms, including income tax forms, are available at the office which will be open from 8:30 a. m. to 5:00 p. m. daily except Saturday and Sunday.

Francis J. Zeller is deputy collector in charge of the Des Plaines office, and Mrs. Sylvia M. Tagge, associated with the office for the past 18 months, has been named cashier.

Other deputy collectors are Samuel J. Carroll and Otto F. Nelsen.

Office personnel will assist anyone in making out income tax forms.

Ask state to patrol Edens highway

Cook County Highway department last week announced that a recommendation would be made to the state division of highways for a 24 hour patrol of the new Edens and Calumet Tri-State expressways. They wish to install the patrol to enforce speed and muffler laws and to rescue stranded motorists.

County superintendent of highways, Major George A. Quinlan, said that numerous complaints of trucks speeding and running with exhaust mufflers cut out have come from residents along the rights of way in the few weeks since the expressways were opened.

The present state laws regulating speed and mufflers are adequate, Quinlan said, and the only need is for a police detail sufficient for enforcement. To meet this need the county will recommend that the state establish 24 hour patrols over the expressways.

The 14 miles of Edens, for example, could be covered by two squad cars, Quinlan said, one in each direction. Quinlan added that the cars would pass any given point every 14 minutes and could give prompt aid to motorists in trouble as well as to make sure of safe driving.

Bits o' business

Canada's dollar is worth as much as America's in the money markets for the first time since 1939. Since freed from controls in 1950 the Canadian dollar's value has risen steadily. Main reasons for the rise is probably U. S. demand for Canadian securities and the influx of capital for jittery European investors . . A $500,000 plant for the production of self-lighting cigarettes is planned for the West Coast . . Plant expansion in the first quarter is estimated at $26 billion yearly by the Department of Commerce. In 1951 quarter the rate was slightly under $25 billion yearly. Current pace represents a gain of $10 billion since Korea.

Seek Dimes cards

A plea for speedy return of all March of Dimes coin cards was made by George A. Bray, campaign chairman for the 1952 Dimes drive.

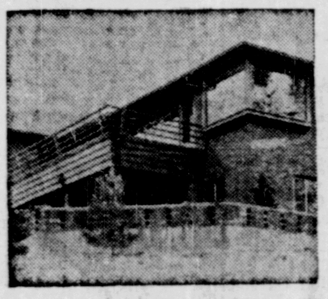

"Coin cards have been pouring in at a rapid rate throughout the campaign, and we expect residents who have not yet sent their cards to drop them in the mail during February," he declared.

The money from these cards plays a major role in providing much-needed help to about 1000 polio victims in Cook county.

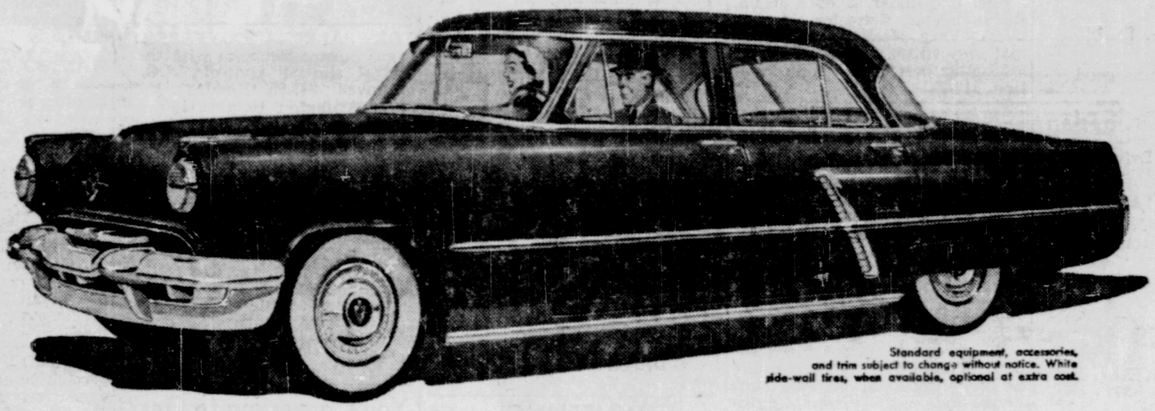

The ethics which guide thought spiritually must benefit everyone; for the only philosophy and religion that afford instruction are those which deal with facts and resist speculative opinions
